... 'The Banana King'

from Provincetown toward Jamaica with an empty hold —he was seeking to fill it with bananas. The Telegraph finally arrived in Jamaica, and was loaded with 35,000 coconuts and 1,450 bunches of green bananas aboard the schooner on May 1, and only 17 days later the cargo was unloaded on Long Wharf at the foot of State St. in Boston.

The key to Baker's success was in loading green bananas, so that they would ripen en route, and arrive in Boston in good, saleable condition. Baker's first cargo netted him $2,000, and was the real start of the United Fruit empire.

As Baker's fame and fortune grew, he became known as a philanthropist in Wellfleet and Jamaica, travelling back and forth regularly between the two locales. He earned the nickname "The Banana King," and his personal fortune grew with his fame.

One of his projects was to convert an old mackerel-packing plant on Chequessett Neck into the luxurious Chequessett Inn, the most impressive hotel of its kind on the Outer Cape. A gasoline engine pumped fresh water out to the inn, which straddled the stilt-mounted wharf many yards out into Wellfleet Harbor. An electric generator was used for lighting in the main building.

Ice cream was sold from a shop at the foot of the wharf, and there was also a nearby bath house and bowling alley. Later, when automobiles came into fashion, a large stucco garage was erected for guests to house their vehicles after the long trip to Wellfleet. Many of the hotel's patrons came to spend the entire season, with their families.

Baker's sleek power yacht, the Cherokee, would arrive early in the season, and anchor just off the end of the wharf. His private sailing yacht, the Areyto, would also anchor close to the hotel, and his moor launch, the Osprey, would shuttle guests to and from their own yachts.

In 1900 Baker founded the Wellfleet Oyster Co., which used a 55-foot dragger to ferry bushels of oysters, and occasionally guests, from water to shore. The house flag of the Chequessett Inn flew from the dragger.

Stores should allow using

Baltimore store refused

$uper $aver

By JAN LEASURE

Dear $uper $aver: The Value-Food grocery store in my area absolutely refuses to accept manufacturer's coupons with its store coupons. As I see it, the store coupons represent a sale price to draw customers and to limit the number of items you can purchase at that price. By accepting a manufacturer's coupon, the store has nothing to lose since it will be reimbursed.

Both the cashier and the manager of the store were very nasty when I questioned this policy. Saturday morning I went to the main office and asked about the corporate coupon policy. I couldn't get a satisfactory answer. I am so frustrated because I know that I'm right and I think they know it, too, but refuse to give in. Could you check this out for me or do I have to go along with their silly, unreasonable rule? — Marian Haubner, Baltimore

Dear Ms. Haubner: In the past several weeks I have been deluged with letters from almost 100 frustrated Baltimore readers who were angry with the coupon poli-read. While I read, I jot down the page of a coupon on the front of the magazine. When I'm finished, it only takes a few minutes to clip them out before discarding the magazine.

"I recently had a great savings on Colgate toothpaste. I carry a small coupon file in my purse for unexpected purchases. We were in a local Apex store and noticed

Custom-built $6 M home

The Associated Press

CORAL GABLES, Fla. — Reluctantly, Eric Blum will sell the fish tank behind the bar of a distinctive home he built in an exclusive neighborhood here. The only problem is that you'll have to buy the multilevel house as well — and that has a $6 million price tag on it.

Actually, only the most blase would call Blum's mini-sea world a "fish tank." The 8,000-gallon seaquarium, filled with exotic tropical fish from around the world, is unique and experts know of none larger.

"Fish and plants are my two passions in life," Blum admits, identifying some of the rare species as they swim by two picture windows that provide visitors with an underview from the cabaret-like room into what appears to be a natural cove or reef.

"It's an integral part of the house's foundation and took almost 10 months to build, put in all that plumbing and crank it up," said Blum with pride. Imported coral and stone were hand-picked to give the seaquarium its natural appearance.

Sea water is drawn from Biscayne Bay and processed through an elaborate ultraviolet sterilization system in a nearby utility room.

While the seaquarium is extraordinary, so are the grounds and home that took architects nine months to draw and took 5½ years to build.

Entrance to the two-acre waterfront estate is through a 16-foot electronically controlled gate opening onto a horticulturist's fantasy.

"It took 18 months to do the lan scaping alone, which includes small rain forest. There are mor than 200 different plants and tre here," says Blum, picking a falle leaf from a flower bed, "and I c name every one of them — because picked them out."

The hôme is owned by Establiss
ment Rabanne, a Liechtenstei based corporation that commi
sioned Blum to select and purchas the property as well as oversee i design and construction. Blum says was built with a particular buyer i mind, but the person died before was finished in September 1982.

"I was given free rein to build i
I'm an organizer," explains Blum, former associate producer of films.

House fit for a king with a classic view

By CRAIG LITTLE
Special Writer

WELLFLEET — There's a sweeping view of Wellfleet Harbor and all the way to Brewster from the 21 windows of the tower room. On this day, the view from the strikingly Victorian-style wooden-shingled house was aided by a bright yellow sun — a yellow even more gleaming than that of a banana, the fruit that built the house.

The home was built by Lorenzo Dow Baker Jr., the son of Wellfleet's "Banana King" and founder of the United Fruit Co., around 1907-08 as a bath and guest house for his own nearby house at Hamblen Farm. Loren Baker, as he was known, used the beach house for entertaining, and to put up overnight guests. The Baker family owned the house until 1946, when they sold it to man named Phillips. A year later Dr. Lewis Pilcher and his wife Eleanor, of West Newton, were able to buy it furnished, along with 160 feet of beachfront on Wellfleet Harbor, for $5,000.

They had rented the house for three summers, beginning in 1938, but in spite of travel restrictions during the war that prevented them from coming to the Cape, knew they were in love with it, and determined to get it. Today, almost 40 years later, it still provides a summer home for the Pilchers and, at various times during the season, their four grown children and thirteen grandchildren, plus assorted friends and guests.

"What I like about this house is that it's a legacy of 75-100 years ago, when Wellfleet became a fashionable summer resort," said Pilcher, a Brooklyn, New York native ("I'm still a Dodger fan") who retired in 1975 from an active general surgical practice in the Newton area. "It was the last addition to the Chequessett Inn complex, but nobody really lived here until we came here. The main advantage of the house is that it's a family center — everybody comes down at one time or another during the summer."

"People stop and look at the house all the time, you can see them looking up at it from the beach, and some even come up" said Mrs. Pilcher. "One girl wrote to us and said she'd just die if she couldn't see the inside before she had to leave Wellfleet, so I invited her in to look at the house."

There's plenty to look at — some of the original furnishings, like a couple of chairs, desks and tables; a large fieldstone fireplace anchored in 10 to 20 feet of additional loose fieldstone to stabilize the bulky structure; a 75-year old French "foot tub" as a shower in the original upstairs bathroom; multiple levels on the second floor; and an aging organ the Pilchers brought in.

The small living room, decorated with the original dark stained pine inlaid square panelling, is two stories high and overlooked by a windowed corridor with access to the four second story bedrooms, as well as a little, open arched window that's always been a favorite with small children in the Pilcher family. It's their "good night" window, where the younger kids say goodbye for the evening to the adults seated in the living room below.

Off the living room, facing the beach, the large porch with its oversized, arched windows and rattan chairs, looks virtually the same as it did before World War I. "Baker never screened it in, and neither did we," said Pilcher. "There's always a breeze here, except on a rare day, and it seems to keep the bugs away."

The Pilchers did add a fire escape hatch from the second floor through the roof of the porch, to supplement the rope ladders each upstairs bedroom has, the special steel ladder in one corner room, and the chain ladder in the octagonal tower room.

"We haven't altered or changed the house much, although last summer we repainted and repaired the outside to preserve it," said Pilcher. "It's basically the original house, as it was then"

"We wouldn't think of finishing it off," his wife added as a promise to keep the rough hewn, beach house flavor of the uninsulated house intact.

The Pilchers added a hot water heating and electrical unit, and a double door on the beach side of the house to create a boathouse in the storage area under the main floor. The house even came with a 23-foot sloop, the Harry, dating from when Lorenzo Dow Baker established the Chequessett Neck Yacht Club, but they sold it to a Provincetown man.

Their major change was to create a small hedroom for themselves on the first floor by enclosing a side porch, and adding an attached downstairs bathroom to supplement the original upstairs bathroom.

The Pilcher's kitchen area was originally used as dressing room stalls for seaside bathing. The Pilchers had the changing cubicles removed and the space altered to create a kitchen when they moved in, but narrow slit windows, originally built in to keep inquisitive eyes from peering in, still remain. A long table fills the kitchen — five years ago, on their 50th wedding anniversary, the Pilchers sat 26 family members and friends down to dinner in a single seating.

The oyster grant in the water in front of the house is worked by local oysterman Joe Fox, who keeps an eye on the house in the winter when it's empty — the Pilchers usually visit for the last time around Columbus Day, although they haven't shut the water off as late as November.

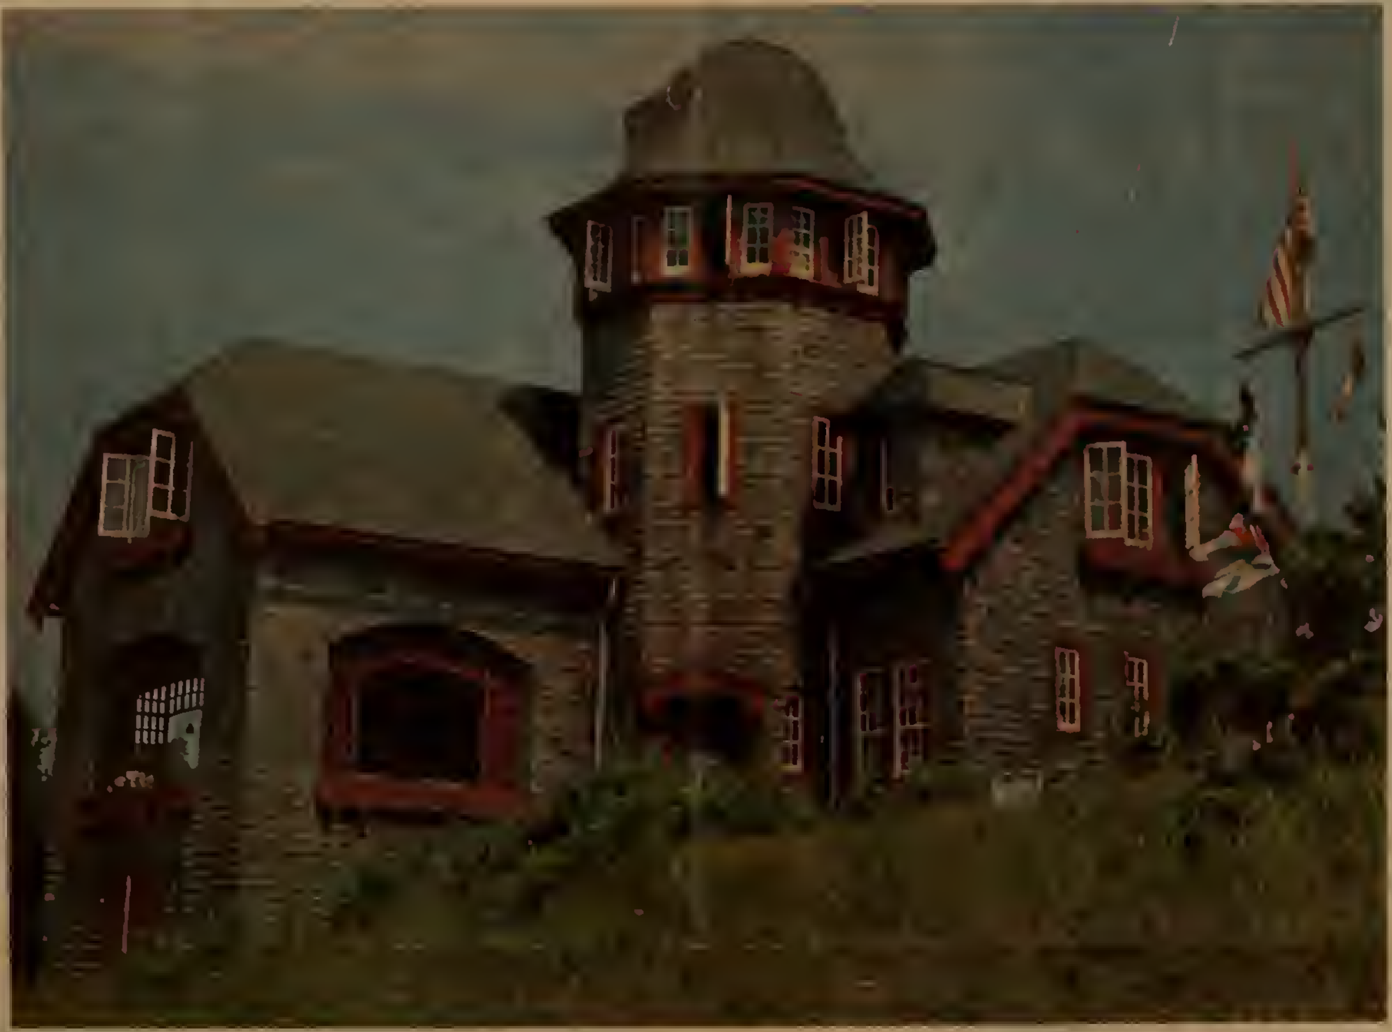
"I only objected once when a very energetic kid was going to dig a trench on the beach all the way to the bluff, where we've had to put a snow fence to stop erosion," said Pilcher. "We had a friendly discussion and he decided to build his castle a little nearer to the tide."

When Baker built the bath house, he violated a promise to a neighbor not to block the view onto Wellfleet Harbor. The grudge lasted for the entire period of the Baker family's ownership of the house, and even for a while after the Pilchers moved in. Dr. Pilcher went on a friendship campaign and finally broke the ice — although the view from the bath house is still considerably better than from the neighbors' house behind it.

Sometime back, after a feature photograph of the unusual house appeared in the local weekly newspaper's real estate supplement, a false rumor that the Pilcher's home was for sale. "We got bombarded with calls," recalled Mrs. Pilcher.

But the house isn't for sale, nor will it be — Pilcher is in the process of placing it in a family trust.

"This is different, this is living in the rough and living in the past," said Pilcher with a contented glance toward Great Island and the flat blue water of Wellfleet Harbor, and Cape Cod Bay in the distance. "What more do you want?"



WINDOW EXPANSE — Built as a bath and guest house in 1907-08, the Wellfleet summer home owned by Lewis and Eleanor Pilcher has been kept close to its original state. Above, Eleanor Pilcher reads on the porch overlooking Wellfleet Harbor.

Bananas insured Baker's success

By CRAIG LITTLE
Special Writer

WELLFLEET — In a sense, Lorenzo Dow Baker may be the one to blame if you've ever slipped on a banana peel. Baker was the Wellfleet sea captain who began importing large quantities of bananas, and eventually other tropical fruits, into the United States during the 1870s in an operation that was to grow into the multi-million dollar fruit company.

Born in the Bound Brook section of Wellfleet in 1840 as the fourth son of the captain of the packet boat between Wellfleet and Boston, Lorenzo Baker was called Dow by his friends. During his childhood he learned how to work hard at his father's salt works and grist mill, and during the summer, fished with his father when time and schedule allowed.

In 1861 Baker moved into a house on Chequessett Neck that had been given to him by his wife's grandfather. He took out a $500 loan to put his first boat into seaworthy condition, but after several years of fishing, decided to branch out. He bought another, larger "clipper" style schooner, the Telegraph, built in 1847 in Boston. In 1870 Baker took a load of goldmining engineers and their equipment from Jersey City, N.J., to Venezuela, some 200 miles up the Orinoco River. The whole voyage took 21 days, after which Baker started back with a load of bamboo.

As a sort of experiment, the Telegraph carried some bananas to see if they would sell in the States. The trip back to Jersey City took four days less than going down, and a number of the bananas arrived in edible condition. Baker's success in introducing the banana to a northern market inspired him to return to Wellfleet to seek financial backing to set up a market for banana sales in Boston.

His old friend, Captain Jesse Freeman, helped him out, and in March, 1871, Baker sailed the Telegraph

Medicine practiced without a license

Dear Ann Landers: I am an 18-year-old single mother of twins. My parents threw me out of the house when I told them I was pregnant. Three months after the twins were born I got herpes from a magazine salesman. The guy lied to me and said he had eczema. None of this has anything to do with my problem.

The real trouble is I am having an affair with a married man. He is 26, unemployed and his wife is a professional wrestler. She is one tough lady and I don't want to tangle with her. She walked in on us one afternoon in their flat, but fortunately I had my clothes on. (Most of Rick's were off.) He is a very fast thinker — said I was a chiropractor, giving him an adjustment. She then told me she was having trouble with her back and asked me to give her an adjustment, too.

Ann Landers

I faked it as best I could. She was very pleased, said I had helped her more than any chiropractor who had ever worked on her and asked for an appointment the next day. Ann, I have been going over there regularly. Yesterday was her sixth adjustment. She pays me $20 a visit.

Can I get in trouble for practicing medicine without a license? Please give me some advice right away. I can't ask anybody else for help, and I sure do need it! — Depending On You In Corning, N.Y.

Dear Corning: The kind of trouble you are worried about is nothing compared to what might happen if the lady wrestler learns the truth. Stop seeing Rick at once and tell your "patient" you have given up your practice.

Dear Ann Landers: With summer upon us and the knowledge that I will be spending a lot of time in my new convertible sports car, the same nagging thought keeps creeping into my mind.

There is a running argument among my friends regarding seat belts. Some say, "Wear your seat belt so if the car flips over it won't land on you." Others say, "Don't wear a seat belt. You'll stand a better chance if you are thrown clear of the car."

And what about a small child? Should he-she be strapped in if the car is a convertible? What do the experts say? — Heads Or Tails In Indianapolis

Dear Indy: My friends at Allstate Insurance, General Motors and the National Safety Council say, "WEAR YOUR SEAT BELTS AT ALL TIMES! And, by all means, make sure the little ones are strapped securely in their specially built car seats." Remember the line I quoted by the highway patrol officer? It made a tremendous impact on thousands who wrote to tell me so. He said, "I have never unbuckled a dead man."

Dear Ann Landers: My husband watches the TV preachers every Sunday. He claims one minister said there are 350 different sins. My husband wants to know if you can get the list. He thinks he is missing something. — E.J., Mayfield, Ky.

Dear E.J.: Sorry, I have no such list. Tell your husband to write to the preacher.

What's prudish? What's O.K? If you aren't sure, you need some help. It's available in the booklet: "Necking and Petting — What Are the Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Ill. 60611, enclosing 50 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Realistic view is taken of old age

Time of Your Life

By JACK SMITH

Facing reality is part of handling situations effectively. Most of us are reluctant to think about the unpleasant aspects of growing so old that we can't pretend to be anything else.

We try to whistle past the graveyard, so to speak, because we can't imagine how to whistle TO the graveyard. Maybe Ethel S. Cohen of New York City has a lesson for us.

Writing in Our Town, a Manhattan community newspaper, this 87-year-old woman deals realistically but eloquently with the inevitable ravages of old age.

"Possessor once of a phenomenal memory," she says, "names and words now elude me, embarrassingly, often at critical moments. Books read, the titles and names of authors vanish; films seen, the titles and contents, the names of the actors and the story vaguely recalled."

Again: "I was once endowed with perfect pitch. It was my great asset as a musician and musicologist. Now, perforce, I sit as close to the stage as I can for chamber music and instrumental performances. At a lecture recently, I heard laughter in the audience in response to what must have been the speaker's witty remarks ... I sat there puzzled and distressed."

But it's noteworthy that Mrs. Cohen is still reading new books, the contents of which she can't always recall, and attending events for which she might rather get a hearing aid than miss. She enjoys the cartoons in The New Yorker, practices speaking foreign languages and holds a policymaking position with the National Council of Jewish Women.

Yet she isn't kidding herself: She confronts "the ever-present grim spectre of physical deterioration" by making the most of the opportunities its delay presents. And in so doing, she's undoubtedly enjoying life more than if she had to meet each new loss as a devastating shock.

If we live into the 80s and 90s, we'll almost certainly lose people we've loved and admired. We may be without the companionship we've enjoyed since we were young. We may be alone, or so surrounded by strangers that we might as well be alone.

This isn't something to look forward to, says Mrs. Cohen: "To be old is to remember, to look backward through the tunnel of memory, to hope only for the absence of pain, for economic security, to be independent."

That is the part of her resolve. But from the way she describes her lifestyle, her relations with her children and grandchildren, her intellectual pursuits and her sense of humor, it's obvious that she also has a calm determination to get the most out of life, day by day.

I see no evidence that her realistic view of the future prevents — in any way —her realistic appreciation of the benefits of the present. And if there was ever a person growing old "with dignity," as they say, it is she.

The lesson, I think, is that while the truth of old age is more negative than positive, it's useless either to dread it or to pretend that it will always be particularly good. To recognize its pitfalls and emotional discouragements is to prepare the soul to live with them.

We can't change time, tide or erosion. We can only control our own preparedness to cope with them. This is never done by looking the other way.

Right to benefits established

Social Security Q & A

This column is designed to answer questions about Social Security, Supplemental Security Income and Medicare. If you have any questions about retirement, disability, survivors, or health insurance benefits or financial assistance to those in need over 65, blind or disabled, send them to: Lois Drogan, Social Security field representative, 181 Walton Ave., Hyannis, Mass. 02601.

Question: My mother divorced my father after 15 years of marriage. Someone told her that she had to be married for 20 years in order to qualify for benefits on his record. Is this true? — F.F., Falmouth

Answer: No. As a result of a 1977 change in the law, only 10 years of marriage are required to establish the right to benefits as a divorced spouse.

Question: I have worked long enough to qualify for Social Security on my own earnings and I understand I can also qualify on the basis of my husband's record when he retires. Can I get both? — F.D., Hyannisport Answer: No, you can't get both. You will receive an amount equal to the larger of the two benefits.

Question: I'll be using my Medicare coverage for the first time when I go into the hospital next month. I know that a benefit period starts when I enter the hospital. Does it end when I am discharged? — P.A., Bourne

Answer: A benefit period ends when you have been out of a hospital or other facility primarily providing skilled nursing or rehabilitation services for 60 days in a row, including the day of discharge.

Question: My doctor says that because I live alone I have to stay in the hospital until I am well enough to take care of myself. I am worried about whether or not Medicare will keep paying my bills. Can you tell me? — B.N., South Yarmouth

Answer: Medicare cannot pay for custodial care even if you are in a participating hospital or skilled nursing facility or you are receiving care from a participating home health agency. Care is considered to be custodial when it is primarily for the purpose of meeting personal needs and could be provided by persons without professional skills or training: help in walking, geting in and out of bed, bathing, dressing, eating, and taking medicine.

Question: I've taken a part-time job as a waitress in a neighborhood restaurant. Another waitress told me I'll have to pay Social Security taxes on my tips. Is this true? — E.N., Marstons Mills

Answer: Cash tips that add up to $20 or more in a month in your work for one employer count for Social Security. You are required to give your employer a written report of your tips if they add up to $20 or more in a month. Your employer will collect from you your share of the Social Security tax on the tips you report. For more information, ask for a copy of "Social Security and Cash Tips" at the Hyannis Social Security office. The phone number is 775-7501.

Question: I get monthly SSI checks because I'm disabled. A friend has asked me to work part time doing paperwork for him. The job won't pay much. Do I have to report it to Social Security? — R.T., Harwich

Answer: You should notify Social Security immediately if you take a job while you are still disabled, regardless of how little you earn. You may be eligible for a trial work period to test your ability to work while continuing to receive SSI payments.

Perh. of Branstone Parish, co. Essex, England; a husbandman; was in Salisbury, Mass. before 1640; in Andover, 1644, where he was one of the founders of the church, 1645; in Nantucket, 1663, being one of the first 10 purchasers. On the 5th 12 mo. 1663, "John Bishop, Mr. Coffin, Robert Barnard and Peter Folger are appointed to view and consider of Land in order to the Laying out thereof for cornfields or other use." Robert bought one half share from his brother, Thomas; his house lot was approx. east of Hummock Pond and touching a swamp on the southeast; in 1667, he and Joane then of the Island of Nantucket, deeded to Simon Bradstreet the house and lot in Andover, which he had from his "first coming to the town".

Admin. on his estate granted 1 Feb. 1714/5, "after he had been dead more than 30 years," to his grandson Robert; inventory, 13 May 1716, contained only a 4 acre division of land in Andover, "which was laid out to the ancient right of Robert Barnard of Andover, deceased."

He was one of the 12 or more of the surname, who came to New England in the 17th Century (1634-1681).

shall be twenty five ($25.00) dollars. The fee for annual membership shall be one ($1.00) dollar. All fees for annual membership shall be credited toward life membership, and when the total shall equal to life membership fee such member shall become a life member, and exempt from the payment of further dues. Membership fees shall be payable after election to this Corporation upon notification by the Secretary: and annual dues shall be payable thirty days after the Annual meeting upon notice from the Treasurer.

All members of the Society of The Edward Bangs Descendants at the time of incorporation of this Corporation shall be considered members of the Corporation, and shall be designated as Founders.

Life members and annual members whose dues are paid for the current year are entitled to vote and to hold office. A member may be dropped from membership in the Corporation on recommendation of the Board of Directors, and a two thirds vote of the members present and voting at any meeting.

Resignations shall be presented in writing to the Board of Directors, and shall take effect without action, unless the member desiring to resign shall be indebted to the Corporation.

Failure of an annual member to pay dues for two years in succession shall be sufficient cause for forfeiture of membership on recommendation of the Board of Directors. Notice for the payment of annual membership fees shall contain a copy of this provision of the By-Laws.

ARTICLE VI.

Amendments

These By-Laws may be amended at any annual meeting of the Corporation, or at any special meeting a notice of which contains the proposed amendment in full.

Boston, June 20, 1921.

TO ALL DESCENDANTS OF EDWARD BANGES THE PILGRIM:-

This Society extends to you a most cordial greeting and invites you to join in its efforts to perpetuate the history and traditions of the family. In this year of tercentenary observance it is most appropriate that the descendants of Edward Banges should visit those places in Old Plymouth Colony associated with the earlier generations of the American branch of the Bangs family. The following is a tentative programme for August 12-13 and 14th, 1921.

THE TENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION of this Society will assemble in Provincetown Mass., Friday noon Aug. 12th. and, after visiting the historic points associated with the Pilgrims first landing-place, will proceed to traverse Cape Cod by automobile, arriving at Plymouth the afternoon of Aug. 13th. in season to view the Pageant that is to be presented on that day.

PROVINCETOWN,	The Pilgrim's first landing-place.
"BANGSVILLE,"	A suburb of Provincetown, formerly a part of Perez Bangs farm.
TRURO,	Where Captain Jonathan(2)Bangs was one of the first settlers.
WELLFLEET,	The scene of early Pilgrim exploration.
EASTHAM,	The township first incorporated from the Nauset purchase that was settled by Edward Banges and others in 1644. This Society has placed a memorial tablet to Edward Banges here.
ORLEANS,	The part of the Nauset purchase in which Edward Banges settled. 1644.
BREWSTER,	The home of Captain Jonathan(2)Bangs and of many others of the Bangs family of the early generations. Here Edward Bangs died. Monuments to Captains Jonathn(2) and Edward(3)Bangs have been erected in the First Church burying ground by this Society.
BANGS POND,	On the line between Brewster and Harwich.
HARWICH,	The birthplace of many of our Ancestors.
DENNIS, SOUTH DENNIS,	Here stand several old Bangs homes and here many of our ancestors are buried.
YARMOUTH,	On the border of the Nauset purchase.
SANDWICH,	From which place Edward Bangs assisted in "laying out a convenient way" to Plymouth.
CAPE COD CANAL,	An important link in the inland waterway.
PLYMOUTH,	The home of the Pilgrims and the first home of the American branch of the Bangs family in 1623.

Your Secretary has secured a reservation of a section of 50 seats for the Pageant of Aug. 13th. A remittance of $2.75 for each seat including war tax must be made on or before July 9th. 1921, to secure this reservation. The Secretary desires to be informed at an early date of all who contemplate joining this party in order that he may secure transportation and reservations.

Respectfully,

C. H. Bangs

Secretary

Barttelot - Bartlett

The ancestors of the Bartletts came from Normandy with William the Conqueror and fought at the Battle of Hastings.

The English family of Bartlett or Barttelot is traced to the Norman Conquest in the year 1066.

The ancient coat-of-arms is: sable Sabel, three sinister falconer's gloves argent, arranged triangularly two above and one below blow pendant bands around the wrist and tassels or. At about the close of the fifteenth century the castle was granted as the crest to John Barttelott; and in the sixteenth century the Swan crest was granted in commemoration of the right granted the family by William the Conqueror to keep swans in the river run.

The ancestral seat of the family

Stopham Manor - the original land grant has never been out of the family and consists of about eight thousand acres, upon which was erected the manor house in the year 1309. It is a building three stories in height and one hundred and fifty feet in length, and is approached over a stone bridge which spans the river Arun near the station. In the old Norman church which was built by the Barttelots in the twelfth century, there is an unbroken succession of memorial tablets from John Barttelot, who died in 1428, down to the present generation. Members of the family fought at the battle of Poictiers in 1356 and at Crecy in 1348, and subscribed generously to the find that contributed to defeat the Spanish Armada in 1588.

The first of the family to come to America was Robert Bartlett, which form of spelling has since been generally used. Three others, the brothers - John, Richard and Thomas, came here in 1634-35. Connection between them and Robert has never been established.

The Lewiston (Maine) Daily Sun 6/19/61 in "Believe It Or Not" by Ripley, had a picture of Stopham Manor, with the explanation: "Stopham Manor a vast estate in England was forfeited to the crown in 1448 because its owner, Edward Barttelot, ate a pigeon on a fast day".

Richard ∅ to America ~~about 1635~~ in the "Mary & John" 1634 at Ipswich in 1634 and settled in Newbury , Mass., as one of the earlier settlers there, living there before 1637.
(Perhaps he came over in "Mary & John" 1634 - Virkus Vol. 7)

Richard owned a "Breeches Bible" with the inscription: "Richard Bartlett bought this book Anno Domini 1612" - the "Breeches Bible" was so called from the translation of the word for the original garment worn by Adam and Eve. The Bible is now owned by William Bartlett of Lowell, Mass., who received it from his father, the Rev. Samuel C. Bartlett, late president of Dartmouth College.

Richard's oral will, April 1647, proved 28 Sept. 1647, stated that John had already received his share; bequeathed to Christopher & Joane and each of her 4 daus.; to Richard and John, who received the "Great Bible."

ESTATE OF RICHARD BARTLETT OF NEWBURY.

"The testimony of william Titcombe & Anthony Somersby concerning the last will & testament of Richard Bartlett sen of Newbury deceased the 20th of May 1647 About a month before he deceased we being with him & two of his sonnes being p^{r}sent he being very ill & had bene weake all the spring finding in himselfe that he was not like to continew he desired vs to take notice what his mind was concerning that small estate he had how he would dispose of it. As for his sonne John Bartlett he had done for him more then for the rest of his children & at that tyme did not dispose any to him. To his sonne Christofer Bartlett he did bequeath the debt which latly he had borrowed of him which was five bushells of wheat soe be it should please the lord to take him away at this sicknesse or ells if he should lye longe vizitted his necessity would require that he should pay it againe. To his daughter Johan wife of william Titcombe he bequeathed one paire of new shoes for herselfe & her foure daughters each one a paire of shoes And all the rest of his goods & chattells that were not disposed of he bequeathed wholly to his sonne Richard Bartlett whom he made his sole heire & executor. I Anthony Somersby the next day Pswaded him to give somthing to his sonne John Bartlett his answere was that he had bene with his sonne Richard Batlet this twelve month & all that he had was to little for to give him seing he had bene weake & ill & could doe little but lay vpon his sonnes charges; besides said he if I should lye longe sick I shalbe chargable to Richard & not to any of the rest and for John I have done more form^{r}ly yet I will give him the warming pan and vpon his sonnes request he gaue him a great bible: this he spake being in pfect memory & soe continewed to the last breath.

"I Edward Rawson wittnes to the last pt of the will that I often heard the said Richard Bartlett sen (the tyme of his sicknesse) say he would & did give all to his sonne Richard Bartlett 29th Septemb 1647. This was before the witness Edward Rawson."

The first part of this will proved 28: 7: 1647, by Mr. Rawson, the whole by Anthony Somersby. Ipswich Deeds, vol. 1, leaf 25.

Capt. Nathan^4 Bartlett's Will -- (Original was in possession of Mr. Alfred Bartlett, Eliot, Maine.)

In the name of God, amen. I NATHAN BARTLET of Kittery, in the county of York, and province of the Massachusetts Bay, gentleman, being of a sound mind and memory, and considering my frailty and mortality, do make and ordain this my last will and testament.

But first of all, I commit my soul to God who gave it, begging for the pardon of all my sins, and eternal salvation thro the merits and mediation of the Lord Jesus Christ, my great redeemer; and my body I commit to the earth, to be decently buried at the discretion of my executor, hoping (thro' the mighty power of God,) I shall receive the same again in a glorious resurrection to eternal life.

And as for the worldly estate that a bountiful God has been pleased to bestow upon me, I give and dispose thereof as follows, vizt:

I order that my just debts and funeral charges be paid out of my personal estate, as soon as may be after my decease.

I give and bequeath unto my well beloved wife, SHUAH BARTLET, all my plate and china ware for to use and dispose of, as she shall see meet; & if she does not dispose of the same, then my will is that the said plate & china shall be equally divided to and amongst my six daughters.

I also give my said wife Shuah, my riding chair and horse.

I also give to my said wife one third part of all my other personal estate without any deduction for debts, legacies or funeral charges out of the same.

I also give and bequeath unto my said wife, Shuah, the use and improvement of all that part or my estate that was set off and assigned to her in the real estate of her late father, Capt. John Heard, dec'd, during her natural life; and also one half of my dwelling house and barn; and one half of all my lands adjoining to said house and barn; all the said lands and buildings she, my said wife, is to use and improve during her life.

I also give to my said wife the use and improvement of one third part of all my other real estate, if she shall see cause to call for the same, for her better support.

And I do order that my said wife shall have all the firewood she shall have occasion for during her life, to be cut and haled to her, as I shall hereafter order in this my will. And I do hereby order that my son John Heard Bartlet shall cut and hale the one half part of the said wood from my lands herein given to him the said John; and the other half part of said wood for my said wife, I do hereby order that my grandson James Bartlett shall cut and hale from my lands given to him the said James Bartlet.

I give and bequeath unto my son JOHN HEARD BARTLET, all that my tract of Land whereon he now dwells, at the third hill, so called, in Kittery, with the houses, barns and other buildings, orchards, and appurtenances thereunto belonging, which said tract contains one hundred twenty nine acres of land, or be the same more or less:

I also give to my said son John Heard Bartlet, all that my tract of land which I bought of Josiah Bridges, containing forty nine acres, or be the same more or less: which said tracts of land, buildings and appurtenances to hold to him, my said son, John Heard Bartlet, his heirs and assigns forever.

I give and bequeath unto my grandson, JAMES BARTLET, all that my farm whereon I now dwell, containing forty five acres of land, be the same more or less, bounded Northerly partly by Nathaniel Clark's land, and partly by land belonging to the heirs of my son, Nathan Bartlet, deceased, Easterly by Jane Tucker's land, Southerly partly by the highway, and partly by Doct'r

Edmund Coffin's land, and Westerly partly by the highway that goes to a place called the cedars, and partly by Nathaniel Clark's land; with my dwelling house and barn, and the land being about one acre where the barn stands; with all the buildings on said land. I also give unto my said grandson, James Bartlett, that tract of land at stony brook which I bo't of Wm. Gowen, (excepting what I have sold.)

I also give my said grandson, James Bartlet, my lot of meadow or marsh, lying near the head of Sturgeon Creek, which was set off to my wife as part of her share of her father John Heard's estate; all which several tracts of land and buildings, to hold to him the said James Bartlet, his heirs and assigns forever; excepting the use and improvement of such part of said land and buildings as I have ordered for my wife's use during her life; and also reserving the use and improvement of such part of said land and buildings, as I do hereafter order in this my will, for my daughter in law, the said James Bartlet's mother, during her life.

I give and bequeath to my grandson NATHAN BARTLET, all that my farm lying at and adjoining to Sturgeon creek, which I bought of Peter Whittum, John Whittum, Richard Chick and others, commonly called the Whittum farm; to hold to him my said grandson, Nathan Bartlet, his heirs and assigns forever; only reserving my wife's dower during her life; and such part thereof as I shall order to my said grandson's mother during her life.

I give to my daughter SHUAH COFFIN, eight Pounds lawful money, or to the value thereof in cattle or other personal estate at cash price, and to be paid per my said daughter within one year after my decease; the said eight Pounds I order my said grandson, James Bartlet, to pay to my said daugnter, which sum is in full, with what I have given to her before for her portion of and in my estate.

I give to my daughter MARY LORD, twenty pounds lawful money, or the value thereof in cattle or other personal estate at cash price, & to be paid to the said Mary by my son, John Heard Bartlet, within two years after my decease.

I give to my daugher, PHEBE DENNET, twenty Pounds, lawful money, or the value thereof in cattle or other personal estate at cash price, and to be paid to the said Phebe by my son, John Heard Bartlet, within three years after my decease.

I give to my daughter, HANNAH CUTT, twenty Pound lawful money, or to the value thereof in cattle or other personal Estate at cash price, and to be paid to the said Hannah by my grandson, James Bartlet, within five years after my decease.

I give to my daughter, ABIGAIL HANSCOM, twenty Pounds lawful money, or the value thereof in cattle or other personal Estate; and to be paid to her by my grandson, James Bartlet, within four years after my decease.

I give to my daughter, SARAH WENTWORTH, twenty Pounds lawful money, or the value thereof in cattle or other personal Estate at cash price, and to be paid to her by my son, John Heard Bartlet, within six years after my decease.

I give and bequeath unto my daughter in law, SARAH BARTLET, (being the widow of my son, Nathan Bartlet, late dec'd.) the use and improvement of all that part of my estate which I have given my two grandsons, namely, James Bartlet and Nathan Bartlet, until they the said James and Nathan, arrive at the age of twenty one years; and after that time the said Sarah Bartlet is to have the use, improvement and profits of only one third part of the estate--given to the siad James and Nathan,--during her life; and it is to be understood and is my will that the said Sarah Bartlet, is not to have any part of my estate which I have assigned to my wife Shuah, until she my said wife is deceased.

I give to my grandson, James Bartlet, all my utensils of husbandry, and all my tools used in and about tanning and currying.

I give and bequeath unto my son John Heard Bartlet and my grandson James Bartlet, all such real Estate that I have or ought to have in any place or places other than such estate as I have disposed of in and by this my will; to be equally divided between them, their heirs and assigns.

I also give unto my son John Heard Bartlet and my grandson James Bartlet, all such personal estate as I have not otherways disposed of in and by this my will; that is to say, all such personal estate as shall remain after what I have already given away, and my just debts and funeral charges are paid; to be equally divided between them the said John and James.

It is my will and I do hereby order that if it shall so happen that the time of payment of any of the legacies I have ordered in this my will for my grandson James Bartlet to pay, when he the said James shall not then be twenty one years of age; it is my will that the guardian who shall be appointed for the said James, shall have full power to sell and convey so much of the estate that I have given to him the said James, as shall be sufficient to pay such legacy or legacies as shall then be due.

I do hereby appoint my son John Heard Bartlet, sole executor of this my last will and testament.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal, the twenty fifth day of January, Anno Domini, 1775.

NATHAN BARTLET. Seal.

Signed, sealed, pronounced & declared by the said Nathan Bartlet as & for his last will and testament, in presence of us:

Nathaniel Clark,
Ephraim Clark,

John Gowen,
James Gowen.

York, ss. Dec'r 5th, 1775. Then this Will was duly proved in common form, by the oaths of James Gowen, Esq., Nathaniel Clark and John Gowen--before me, John Bradbury, Jud. of Probate.

Recorded from the original, by David Sewall, Reg'r.
Copy of Record, examined by Daniel Sewall, Reg'r.

The preceding Will is the second made by Nathan Bartlet. The first was dated "the Twenty fourth Day of March, In the 26th year of His Mag'ts Reign, Annod Domine, 1753." The difference in the two wills is, that the property which he gave to his son Nathan in 1753, he bestowed upon Nathan's sons in 1775,--and he makes record that his son has "recently deceased."

Some of the daughters had also married a second time. In 1753 they were named: Shuah Coffin, Mary Dennet, Abigail Shapleigh, Hannah Cutt, Sarah Bartlet,--the said Sarah was not 18 years old. In 1775, three had other names: Mary Lord, Abigail Hanscom, and Sarah Wentworth.

d. at Plym. (LCH) d. bet. 19-29 Sept. 1676, ae 73,^{2} at Plymouth, Mass. date of his nuncupative will & 29 Oct.-8 Nov. 1676 day his will was probated will proved 29 Oct. 1676
m. aft. 22 May 1627 1628 - Mary^2 Warren, dau. of Richard^1 and Elizabeth (Jouatt/Iratt/Ivatt)March/Marsh Warren in his "teens" (LCH) b. abt. 1610 ante 1612, Eng.; d. 27 Mar. 1683 Plymouth, Mass.

Robert Ø to Plymouth in July 1623, in the good ship "Anne," as did also ae abt 15 (LCH) Mary Warren w/mother & 4 sisters. Upon his arrival he was granted an acre of land upon Eel river in Plymouth. The nearest approach to a feast offered to the new arrivals consisted of a piece of fish, without head, and a cup of fair spring water.

Robert was a cooper by occupation, sometimes called wine cooper in the rec's. & was evidently a man greatly respected. He served sev. times as a member of the Grand Jury, also frequently on trial juries & sev. times as surveyor of highways. His name appears in the records as a "freeman" in 1633. As a wedding gift, Mrs. Warren presented Robert with a lot of land which, with subsequent additions, was the legacy transmitted to his 2nd son, Joseph, situated in what is now Manomet. "When the Pilgrims settled in Plymouth they believed that the sea extended inland just beyond the pine hills. They discovered their mistake and established the settlement of Manomet Ponds." It is at the foot of these hills on the Plymouth side that the Boulder erected by the Soc. of Desc. of Robert Bartlet is situated. The old road to Manomet ran from the old Warren estate along the wall which now lies south of the site of the Boulder. Robert Bartlet resided here; he owned land here, which his children inherited. Only a short walk across the fields, is the second Bartlet house, built by Robert's son Joseph in 1680. In the records of the town of Plymouth, may be seen a copy of his will. Where he lies buried is not recorded, but it is generally believed that the space at the side of his son Joseph on Burial Hill was his last resting place. One of 1st purchasers of land, at Dartmouth, Mass.; served in Capt. Myles Standish's Company 1632

Richard Warren was a descendant of a long & honorable line, with royal blood in his veins. His own wife was so pure, so high-minded, so noble, that the strain of loyalty held a second place.

Col. G. Gordon Bartlett is the present president of the Society of the Descendants of Robert Bartlett of Plymouth, Inc. Born into an army family, he spent his early years in various military posts until his father retired to New Bedford. After education at Amherst and Harvard, he had just begun teaching French, when Pearl Harbor changed his career from teacher to soldier. He retired from the army at the end of 20 years, and resumed his role ~~of~~ as French teacher for an additional 20 years. Three years ago he and Jackie retired to their new Seabury home in Mashpee, where they devote much of their time to genealogy.

The Society of the Descendants of Robert Bartlett celebrated its 78th annual meeting and 77th reunion in 1985. It ~~has~~ has recently begun publishing an interesting newsletter. If you are a Bartlett descendant and do not know the Society already, you can write to Col. Bartlett for information, who will pass the ~~request~~ request on to the ~~[illegible]~~ membership committee.

Robert Who?
(Or the Story of One Bartlett Line)

by Gordon & Jackie Bartlett

Now that you know you won't be hearing a talk this morning on the Nickerson family, I think we should take a short break to allow anyone to leave quietly. Jackie and I are just as disappointed as you are because we had hoped to hear about the Nickersons so we'd have a better idea on how to present the Bartlett family talk scheduled for next month. After Mr. Mosher called us last weekend to ask if we could advance our presentation to today, it occurred to us that the Bartlett name may not be a household word or as familiar to Cape Codders as the name, Nickerson. So what we'd like to do this morning is give you a quick summary of one line from us back to Robert Bartlett.

(One member raised her hand.)

I think you will see that the Bartlett men on this chart all demonstrated an ability to pick charming and talented wives. We've brought with us a few artifacts or mementos in good "show and tell" tradition to illustrate some of the achievements of the family. This may be the "show and tell" to end all "shows and tells." In fact, we thought that if we brought enough interesting items we wouldn't have to say as much.

We've entitled our talk, "Robert Who?" We encourage our Bartlett Society members to discuss their lines to Robert through one or more of his children. Following proper genealogical procedure, we'll start with the present and work back to the past. We list our son, David, as the 12th generation. I used this chart in a talk to our Bartlett Society at which David and his new bride were present. No genealogist likes to see his line end and we tried to pass along a subtle suggestion by saying that you will note that #13 is blank and we hope to be able to update this chart at our next meeting. #13 is still blank. David and his wife both work for NASA. He started out as an oceanographer and got his feet wet in the marshes of Mashpee. Now he relies on maps like this one of Cape Cod taken by satellite.

Later we'll compare this map with an earlier one used by his great-grandfather, Gideon.

You heard from Mr. Mosher that Jackie and I were married in China. We brought as our artifact, this edition of Life magazine, dated Dec. 1948, which features the civil war in China and contains a picture of us cutting our wedding cake. We were happy that we didn't have to send out wedding announcements because we were pretty busy at the time being evacuated from Nanking -- but that's another story.

Moving up the chart, you will note that my father's middle name and my mother's last name were both Gordon. My brother was called Gordon after my mother and I was also called Gordon, but, being a junior, I was named after my father. My brother was a career army officer and for several months in Italy and France during World War II, we were both in the same headquarters. We can anticipate lots of confusion on the part of future genealogists on this score.

I never knew my grandfather, Gideon. He worked for the shipping firm operated by his father and grandfather, I. H. Bartlett and Sons. As a young man, he made a trip on family ships in 1878 to the whaling fields of the Arctic Ocean. (Map of Alaska showing voyage referred to here.) The Old Dartmouth Historical Society Whaling Museum in New Bedford was given 2 diaries that Gideon kept of his voyage. Reading them, you get the impression that the ships were continually in the fog and ice. We contrast Gideon's problems with our son, David's, and we have to conclude that things are easier now. Every time we get back to the whaling museum, the curator asks if we are ready to leave this map with him. My grandfather, Gideon, was a victim of the decline of New Bedford's whaling industry and he had difficulty making the adjustment to another career. During this difficult financial period, my grandmother, Stella Smith, took my father and his sister to France in the 1890's where living was cheaper. As a result of his early experience in France, my father was given several military assignments involving a knowledge of the French language. This, in turn, resulted in my spending 5 years in Paris schools which prepared me for a language teaching career and numerous French-related military assignments. It is interesting to speculate on how our lives might have been changed if my grandmother had not moved with her children to France. One of our greatest frustrations is that we cannot find my grandmother's birthplace. She has listed both Gardiner and Brunswick, Maine, but our visits have turned up no records of her birth in either place.

George Fearing Bartlett, the first of 3 generations to be born in New Bedford, met Clara Gordon Nye, whose ancestor, Thomas, moved to Acushnet from Sandwich. She was 17 at the time of their meeting and, while her parents had nothing against George, they believed Clara was too young to be engaged. So they sent her to visit her brothers who were merchants in the China Trade in Canton and Macao. Clara's trip through the Mediterranean Sea and across the Sahara Desert before the construction of the Suez Canal was described in an article in the New Bedford Standard Times just before Christmas. (Newspaper article displayed here.) She made the trip in 1848, remained in China 2 years and returned to New Bedford to marry George. Clara kept diaries throughout her life and I think we have all of them.

Ivory Hovey Bartlett (we'll explain how he got his name in a minute) was the first to move to New Bedford from Manomet in 1819. He and his line, back to the first Joseph, all were born in Manomet or the Plymouth area. He started a stagecoach line to Newport which developed into the shipping firm, I. H. Bartlett & Sons.

(Lithograph referred to here.)

This lithograph of the bark, "Sea Ranger," depicts one of the last I. H. Bartlett ships. You will note the "B" pennant on the masthead. We have an 1899 letter from George F. Bartlett to a former mate on the "Sea Ranger" acknowledging his 1/20 lay which amounted to $1706.95 for an 18 months 20 day voyage in 1882-83. We also have a newspaper clipping saying that the "Sea Ranger" was wrecked in the ~~a~~Arctic in 1893 and the wreck was sold for $10.00. I. H. Bartlett & Sons were also in the passenger business to California during the Gold Rush in the 1850's.

The Splendid New York built Ship

GARONNE!
of 511 Tons burthen, under command of Capt. Obed Shearman,

WILL SAIL AS ABOVE

On or about the ~~10th~~ 15th to 20th of April next

Her commander is a man of experience and judgement, having doubled CAPE HORN fourteen times successively, without any damage or injury. The Ship was built under the supervision of Capt. JOHN R. SKIDDY, in the very best manner, having been in the line of New-York and Havre Packet Ships, and proved by her short passages a very fast sailer. Her accomodations for cabin passengers are unsurpassed; having large, airy, and commodious State Rooms, and from 12 to 15 Ladies can be accomodated in the After Cabin exclusively, or Families of Ladies and Gentlemen can make arrangements which will not fail to ensure comfort and convenience.

A small quantity of FREIGHT can be taken, providing application is made without delay.

New Bedford, Mar. 19th, 1850.

We have had fun with our guests of this morning, Mildred and Peter Darwin of Fairhaven, locating the houses in which the Bartletts lived and they number in the dozens! One of George F.'s houses was on the corner of William and County Streets but the address was William Street.

(Old street sign referred to here.)

Jackie picked up this sign at a Cape Cod flea market and we believe it marked the intersection at a time when George and Clara lived there. For those of you familiar with New Bedford, you know that County Street is where the prominent family mansions were located. We have pictures of that house being turned around 90 degrees so that it faced on County Street. Shortly after the move, the house was torn down and the vacant lot is still on the corner. All that is left of this once beautiful house is a doorway which is in the Whaling Museum. This house had belonged to Hetty Green who apparently didn't mind the less fashionable William Street address but it wasn't good enough for George F.! He and Clara moved back and forth from New Bedford to Fairhaven several times and we have difficulty understanding why. This must have been a family characteristic because in the 5 years my own family lived in Paris, we moved 5 times. Somehow, reasons for decisions like these never seem to appear in diaries! We have found all the Bartlett graves in Rural Cemetery in New Bedford and we are quite certain that they have finally stopped moving!

In generation number 6, Abner married Anna Hovey and we are fortunate to have in our possession many records of the Hovey family. Anna was the daughter of a remarkable person, the Reverend Ivory Hovey, a graduate of Harvard College in 1735. He had an interesting career in the Congregational church and was at one time expelled from his parish in Rochester, now Mattapoisett, for "practicing metaphysics." He was probably forced to "moonlight" to make ends meet. He moved to Manomet and was pastor of the 2d Congregational Church there for 33 years. He steered the church through the Revolutionary period and through the various difficulties of the church itself. In addition to Abner's wife, Anna, he had three sons, all of whom served in the revolutionary forces. We had for many years several of their letters to their parents on such subjects as the evacuation of New York and Boston and one telling of the reading of the declaration of independence to his unit. One son was a doctor and he wrote about the retreat from Ticonderoga when he had only the ruffles from his shirt to use as bandages for the wounded. The other 2 sons were less well educated than the doctor and they wrote phonetically. Examples: "We are now afortifyin' as strong as we can against them and they are about a mile from us afortifyin' against us." We realized that the letters, though still quite legible, were gradually deteriorating by being folded and unfolded, so we gave them to the New England Historic and Genealogical Society for safekeeping. We brought with us this morning a copy of a letter from Olive, another daughter and sister to Anna. She was married to a Major Pope, also serving in the revolutionary army, who settled in Wells, now located in the State of Maine. Olive left Rochester via Plymouth and wrote her parents this letter 2 or 3 years after she moved there with her children. We submitted her letter to the collection, "Remember the Ladies" in 1976 as an example of the lives of wives whose husbands were off fighting the war. I'll ask my wife, Jackie, to read it to you.

(Here Jackie donned her colonial cap and read the letter.)
(Copy of letter attached.)

Abner was a deacon in his father-in-law's parish. We don't know much about the next 3 generations besides the names of their wives. In generation #5, Sylvanus married Martha Waite and in generation #4, Joseph married Elizabeth Bartlett. His brother married Elizabeth's sister and we know of one more case of Bartlett brothers marrying Bartlett sisters. Jackie says that this explains some of the pecularities of members of our family. Most of their graves are located in the White Horse Cemetery, now surrounded by houses and falling into disrepair. The original church was near this cemetery; the present church is on Route 3A. Joseph and Hannah Pope, generation #2, are buried on Burial Hill in Plymouth and we assume that Robert and Mary Warren lie in the unmarked plot next to them.

This brings us to our final memento, this 1660 fireback reproduction.
(Iron fireback referred to here.)
It was found in the house built in 1660 by the first Joseph. He was probably aided by his father, Robert, who was a cooper by trade. The house still stands on Brook Road and is presently occupied during the summer by Bob and Sue Bartlett. Bob is my predecessor as president of the Bartlett Society and is an acknowledged authority on the Pilgrims, having written some 20 books on the subject. Where the original fireback was manufactured is debatable. The 1909 minutes of the Bartlett Society state flatly, "This fireback was imported from England by Joseph Bartlet (2) son of Robert Bartlett (1) who came to Plymouth in the ship Ann in 1623." In the May 1985 "Antiques" magazine article on the Pilgrim Hall collection, the fireback is described as follows: "Fireback attributed to Hammersmith, the iron works in Saugus, Massachusetts, 1660...The Saugus iron works were in operation between 1646 and sometime before 1678." Pilgrim Hall reference material states that the form of the firebacks derives from Sussex in England where many foundries were in operation at the time.

This gets into what we had planned to talk about next month but you may not be ready to hear more about the Bartletts quite so soon. Most Bartletts in the United States and England like to believe they are descended from the Barttelots who were given land in Stopham, Sussex, by William the Conqueror. We have made several trips to Stopham and have met the head of the family estate, Sir Brian Walter de Stopham. We are working on a slide presentation of our trip last September to France and the West Country of England in another attempt to find Robert's parents. At some later date, if you are interested, we would be happy to describe this and other trips we have taken for the purpose of genealogical research.

That completes our talk on some of the descendants of Robert Who?

STEPHEN BACHILER 1560 - 1660

Stephen Bachiler was Barnstable's first white settler and first minister. Life held few dull moments for him. When his non-conformity in matters of religion didn't have him in hot water with the authorities, his social non-conformity did. He was educated at Oxford; received orders in the established church and was vicar of Wherwell in Hampshire county before the bishops ejected him for non-conformity. He then went to Holland and from there, with a small band comprised of his married children and grandchildren, sailed over to Boston in 1632. When he entered on his new adventure he was 72 yrs. old -- hardly an age for adventure -- but he seemed to have an extraordinary vitality as his subsequent wanderings about New England showed.

He established his little family church at Lynn and began admitting new members, thereby bringing authorities of the established church in that settlement down on his head, and was ordered "to forbeare exercising his gifts as a pastor or teacher publiquely in our Pattent, unlesse it be to those he brought with him, for his contempt of authority, and until some scandles be removed." He got the "scandles" removed and had his church going again the same year but not for long. He was in difficulty in Lynn off and on for four years, then moved to Ipswich. More troubles and "scandles" occurred and he moved again. This time to Barnstable. He was 76 when he set out for Barnstable, Gov. Winthrop noted, "yet he walked thither on foot in a very hard season." 80 miles or so is a long walk in any season for a man of 76. With him came his family and they settled down on lands in N.E. corner of Banrstable. They were not good pioneers. They suffered through the winter and spring of 1637-8 but when warmer weather came hit the trail for the Mass. Bay settlement and settled at Newbury. The same year, 1638, he and others received permission from the Bay Colony to settle a plantation at Hampton and this they did.

Thus, although he missed being a founding father of Barnstable, he had that honor for Hampton. "Scandles", the Puritan's broad word for a multitude of sins seemed to dog his footsteps. One writer has applied to him the phrase, "the amorous Mr. Bachiler" and the facts seem to justify it. In 1639 he was excommunicated for unchastity, and Gov. Winthrop noted the interesting fact that Mr. Bachiler was then "about 80 yrs. of age, and had a lusty, comely woman to wife." He kept moving and was in Portsmouth in 1650. There, at the age of 89 yrs., his second wife having died, he took his third. This time he neglected to publish his intentions of marriage according to law, for which he was fined 10 pounds, half of which was later remitted. Mary, the third spouse, soon skipped away, June & December being as far apart then as now. A year later Mary was presented at Kittery for adultery. Found guilty, she was sentenced "to receive forty stripes, save one, at the first town meeting, held at Kittery six weeks after her delivery, and be branded with the letter A." This was the last straw for the old shepherd, and he sailed back across the ocean. When his unfaithful Mary petitioned for divorce in 1656, she alleged Mr. Bachiler had "transported himself to Ould England and betaken himself another wife."

He died 1660, at Hackney, nr. London, being then in his 100th yr., 4 times wed, and father of 7 children.

a dau. - Almira - b. Sept. 2, 1792.

The burning of the home may have caused Ebenezer Hatch to move to Ferrisburg, the next town west. As a portion of his estate lay in the town of Ferrisburg, probably the new home was not far from the one destroyed even though in another town. He purchased and sold property in Monkton as well as Ferrisburg for several years thereafter.

The record taken from the family Bible shows that two sons and two daughters were born to them in Ferrisburg, the first of these, Syblena, born Dec. 5, 1796, died Feb.27,1797. Of three daughters born to Ebenezer and Dimmis, only one survived her parents, viz. Evalina - b. Sept. 18, 1800, and m. Oct. 7, 1822 to Hiram Fuller.

L.C.C.H. & G. #32 – "Early Settlers of Eastham" (Joshua Paine of Harwich)

RICHARD BISHOP.

Richard Bishop was an early resident of Eastham. He came to Plymouth some time prior to 1654, but how long he resided in the latter place, records do not clearly show. He was there, however, in 1638, in the employ of Love Brewster, son of Elder William Brewster of the Mayflower band of Pilgrims. Some time previous to the year 1648, he was married to a widow whose name was Alice, a very singular woman, it is evident. On the 22nd of July, 1648, she took her 14-year-old daughter, Martha Clarke, into the chamber of her house, cut her throat, and left her dead upon the floor, in an almost nude state, admitting she did the cruel deed to some of the Grand Inquest, when an inquiry was being made to learn the particulars concerning her death. Her trial for murder was commenced Oct. 8, 1648, at Plymouth, and she was adjudged guilty and sentenced to be hanged. She was accordingly hanged. Two of the jurors, Richard and William Merrick, were from Eastham. After this affair, which gave him some notoriety, he continued his residence in Plymouth, and the year following, in March, he was up before the court for taking a spade from Andrew King, one of his townsmen, and was fined. He had tracts of land allowed him in 1654 at Nausett or Eastham, by the proprietors, and while there gave his attention to agriculture as a principal means of support. His propensity to purloin seems not to have left him after his removal to Eastham and associating with the good settlers there. He was allured by the nice fleece Goodman George Crisp had taken from the sheep, in 1670, and entered his premises and helped himself. He was arraigned and ordered to settle, which he did, paying the sum of thirty shillings. He, soon after this affair, left the township with his family. His place was sold in 1673, by his order, to Thomas Cole. The records point to his place of residence in Eastham, in what is now East Orleans, in the vicinity of Tonset. The Coles, Twinnings and Higginses were his neighbors. Upon his farm at "Pocha," was a hole in the earth, called for many years after his removal, "Bishop's Butter Hole." The records give Bishop no children. It is believed, however, he had several. The Damaris Bishop who married William Sutton in 1666, is thought was his daughter.

WILLIAM SUTTON.

Of William Sutton, but little appears. He was in Barnstable in 1666, and was up before the court for entering the meeting-house, taking away the Bible, and denying having taken it, and was fined for both offences. What led him to take away the Bible from Mr. Walley's pulpit is not stated by the records. Sutton was not long a resident of Eastham. He had, born in Eastham: William, May 13, 1668; Thomas, Nov. 11, 1669; Marah, Oct. 4, 1671. He appears not to have been either a land owner or townsman of Eastham.

Richard Bishop - an early resident of Eastham. was at Plymouth some time prior to 1654 but how long he resided in the latter place records do not clearly show. He was there in 1638 in the employ of Love Brewster son of Elder Wm. of the Mayflower.

m. bef. 1648 - a widow Alice (   ) Clarke who on the 22nd of July 1648 took her 14 yr. old dau. Martha Clarke, into the chamber of her house, cut her throat & left her dead upon the floor in an almost nude state. Admitted to the Grand Inquest she did the cruel deed. Her trial began 8 Oct. 1648 at Plymouth - adjudged guilty & sentenced to be hanged which she was. 2 of the jurors Richard & William Merrick were from Eastham.

After this notoriety he cont'd ~~to live~~ his residence in Plymouth and the yr. following in March he was up before the court for taking a spade from Andrew King, a townsman, & was fined.
Removed to Eastham but did not lose his propensity for stealing. Allured by the nice fleece Goodman George Crisp had taken from the sheep, in 1670, he entered the premises & helped himself. Arraigned & ordered to settle which he did paying 30 shillings. Soon after this affair he left the township with his family selling his place to Thomas Cole in 1673. Records point to his place of residence in Eastham in what is now East Orleans in vicinity of Tonset. The Coles, Twinings & Higginses were his neighbors. Upon his farm at "Pochet" was a hole in the earth called for many yrs after his removal "Bishop's Butter Hole."

Believed he had sev. ch.

Blackmar - the name they had when they came into England - meaning "Blackwater"
- fam. trad. says the people were Saxons & came from eastern Norway.

Blackmore - the name they went by in England.

Blackmer - the mistaken spelling in land grants in American colonies, but some branches continued the spelling.

> "A story is told of a Joseph Blackmer and his 2 sons - Joseph and Paul. The sons argued over a pair of boots and a pair of shoes made from the same last. So their father made each of them wear 1 boot and 1 shoe."

Virkus - Vol. I - says: Thomas Blossom was a member of Rev. John Robinson's church at Scrooby, Eng. + Leyden, Holland. Thomas Blossom sailed in the "Speedwell" 1620 (the companion ship to the "Mayflower") but which put back; he came in the "Mayflower's 2d voyage 1629.

Source 3 - says - The Speedwell, a small vessel, was secured in Holland to carry those to Eng. who were going from Leyden. They took ship at Delft-Haven + soon reached Southampton, Eng. + met the "Mayflower" there. Both vessels put to sea + had gone but a short way when the Speedwell sprung a leak + both vessels put back to Dartmouth. After repairs the two started again but had to put in at Plymouth. After deciding the Speedwell could not make the trip the Mayflower left alone w/ what passengers she could carry - 102 men, women + ch.

The inventory of his property, taken 4 Jan. 1579-80, tog. w/his will, shows him to have been the cultivator of a farm w/considerable live stock, incl. a horse, 2 cows, 3 heifers, & 60 pigs - he had a good store of hay & grain in his barn - a good supply of farming implements, hhousehold furniture, bedding, etc. - his various tools--angers, saws, adze--and "the bedstede I made myself", imply that he may have been skilled in a trade working with wood (possibly a cooper) in addition to being a farmer

Copy of an original letter, 1641, from Julian Borman to her son Samuel.

Good Sonne - I have receaved your letter; whereby I understand, that you are in good health, for which I give God thanks, as we are all - Praised be God for the same. Whereas you desire, to see your brother Christopher with you, he is not ready for so great a journey, nor doe I think he dare take uppon him so dangerous a voige. Your five sisters are all alive, and in good health and remember their love to you. Your Father hath been dead almost this two years, and thus troubling you no farther at this time, I rest, praying to God to bless you and your wife, unto whome we all kindly remember our loves.

Your ever loving mother,
Julian Borman.

Felix) Carter; (5) Samuel, bp. Banbury, Oxfordshire, Eng., 20 Aug., 1615, came early to Weth. (from Ipswich, Mass., where his name first appears on rec. 1639.) But the B. genealogy makes it quite clear that his removal to Weth. was in 1641 and intimates a possibility that his wife Mary Betts, whose mother was "the Widoe" Betts, of Htfd., "school dame" in that town, may have been a second wife m. at Hartford, his first having d. at Ispwich. His wife was Mary (dau. of John & Mary) Betts, of Claydon, Oxfordshire, Eng., from which place they undoubtedly emig. to America—as William Boardman (6th in gen. from the Settler) had in his possession a letter written from that place, in 1641, to Samuel Bordman, from his mother; of which the following is a copy from the original in possession of Mr. Wm. F. J. Boardman, of Hartford, Conn.:

Samuel arr. at Boston 1638; settled ~~was first~~ at Ipswich, Mass., abt. 1639; removed to Wethersfield, Conn. about 1641; received large land grants there, both from the Town and from the Indians, having the respect of both - 30 acres from the Town, 2 Jan. 1649/50, which was at south end of present Rocky Hill, being 1st piece of land granted to an individual at that end of the town -(it furnished great quantities of saplings suitable for making pipe staves - a very important industry in the infant colonies). He was a cooper by trade; rep. Wethersfield as Deputy to General Court, 18 terms, commencing Oct. 1657, & being present at 34 sessions. He was Town Sealer of Weights & Measures, 1649; Customs Collector for Wethersfield, 1659 (the 1st person to hold that office); juror for 15 yrs. between 1646-62; Grand Juror in 1660 and 1662; often on committees to settle church disputes, estates, Town boards, and differences with Indians. In 1672, the Indian Tarramuggus presented 400 acres to him in what is now Eastbury Society, Glastonbury, and in 1685, the Town, by vote, confirmed the title in this land to the heirs of Mr. Borman. His last sickness was evidently short and he died intestate. Admin. of his Estate was granted 12 May 1673 to widow, Mrs. Mary Boreman. The property was inventoried at £742 15s. divided to wife and 10 children: Isaac (who had already had a portion), Mary, Samuel Jr., Joseph, John, Sarah, Daniel, Jonathan, Nathaniel and Martha -- the oldest being then 30 yrs. old with a wife and family, and the youngest less than 7 years of age. Inventory brought to Court 25 Nov. 1673. governor's asst. 1676

Edward¹ - b.
d. 1634 on ship as it entered Boston Harbor shortly before landing
m. in Eng. - Mary
b. ; d. 18 May 1648

℘ leaving England, spring of 1634, sailing from the port of Gravesend, m. the mouth of the Thames river, in the ship "Elizabeth Dorcas" (or "Elizabeth & Dorcas"). They had with them their sons Benjamin and Nathaniel, possibly a son Edward (or Edmond), a daughter Mary, and her husband, William Buckland, and there may have been younger children but the compiler found no record of any and only a slight trace of the son Edward. An older son, Jonathan, had ℘ to America a yr. or more before and settled in Cambridge, then called "Newe Towne." (from "Diary of Sewall" vol 3 p.396) "Thirty were thrown overboard in the passage of the Calenture. [a medical term formerly applied to a tropical fever with acute delirium supposed to attack sailors in hot climate.] Edward Bosworth, the Father, being ready to dye, ask'd to be carried upon the Deck, that he might see Canaan. When he had seen the Land he resigned his Soul and dyed: was carried ashoar and buried at Boston." Samuel Sewall's fa. Henry was also on the same ship and he had loaned money to Edward Bosworth to assist him in the expenses of the passage for himself and family, and a yr. later the sons - Jonathan aged 22, Benjamin 20, and Nathaniel not quite 18, with the son-in-law William Buckland were obliged to pay the debt, for in the Records of Mass. [Vol. 1 p.152] is found the amt each was to pay towards the debt and the dates for the payments. [The entire sum paid amounted to 20 pounds (5 lbs. each), about $100.] The widow & family of Edward seem to have gone early to Hingham which was then being laid out, (H. - was incorporated 2 Sept. 1635) where they were joined by eldest son Jonathan, at least we find them all there in 1635.

Seek area relatives

I wonder if any of my relatives are living in your vicinity. We are planning a trip East leaving Iowa June 17 and arriving in the area about June 24. If any of your readers think we are related, I hope they will contact me. When we arrive, we will contact them.

Richard Bourne was born in Devonshire County, England; and died in Sandwich, Massachusetts, in 1682 or 1685. The following is a list of my direct ancestors: Shearjashub 1644-1718 or 1719; Ezra married in 1698; Samuel; Nathan 1756-?; Samuel 1791, married Mary Smith; Ransford married Lucy Smith; Zacchaeus Zacharias born in 1842 in Decatur County, Indiana; lived in Seneca, Illinois; and died in 1914 in Ellsworth, Iowa; Henry Sumner 1876-1932; and Leslie Clark 1901- .

Richard Bourne was ordained as pastor of Plymouth First Church about 1670. He was buried on his own land near his own house on the left side of Dock Lane (Street) in Sandwich, in the vicinity of the first glass factory.

Brace Lineage - J. Sherman Brace, M.E. - 1914

The B. fam. took its name from Bracy, a place near Caen, Normandy, France. The English branch of this Norman family stock in 1066 with Rudulphus de Braceio and Aldulphus de Braci who were w/ Wm. the Conqueror at Battle of Hastings & rec'd Charters of Eng. lands.

The first settlements by the family in the new world were in the Conn. colony. John Bracie & in 1642 and settled in New Haven. He was given the prefix of "Mr." Colonial records of N.H. County vol. 2 p. 159 shows that Mr. Bracie tk Oath of Fidelity July 1644. Page 302 "Seating of Meeting House" by Order of the Court, 10 of March, 1646, shows:

"1st. The Mens Seates

The Middle Seates have to sit in them:

1st Seate - the Governour & Deputy Governour.

2nd Seate - Mr. Malbon, Magestrate.

3rd Seate - Mr. Evance, Mr. Bracey,
Mr. Fra. Newman, Mr. Gilbard

2ndly. For the Womens Seates.

In the Crosse Seates at the end.

Mrs Bracey, Mrs. Evance."

Cotton Mathers in connection w/ this "seating" says "a Rev. Mr Bracey & his wife had seats assigned them." Before he returned to England after 1642 ~~in 1642 widow~~ (widow of Thomas Bracey, m. 1631 London Eng.) Phoebe Bracey came to New Haven w/ her 5 ch. She was the eldest dau. of Wm. Bisbie or Bisby, a wealthy merchant of London. In 1647 family rem. to Wethersfield where Mr. Bisbie had caused the purchase of some land for them. In 1661 the ch. were of age or m. & deeded their rights in the property to their mother & her 2d hus. Samuel Martin whom she had m. in 1648

William Bradford m. Alice Hanson

son
William¹ Bradford bp. 19 Mar. 1589/90 Austerfield, Yorkshire, Eng.
d. 9 May 1657 Plymouth, Mass.

Joined the group of Separatists at the age of 17. He was only 32 when he came to Plymouth with the Mayflower Pilgrims. From 1621 – 1657, a period of 36 years, he was annually elected Governor of the Colony (but for 5 occasions when he "importunity got off."

From 1630 – 1650, in spare time, he wrote the famous "History of Plimouth Plantation." For 80 yrs. (1775 – 1855) the manuscript was lost, until finally discovered in the Fulham Library of the Bishop of London. It is now in a glass case at the State Library, State House, in Boston, MA

"Bradford had every qualification of a trustworthy narrator. His mind was placid, grave, well poised; he was a student of many books and 5 foreign languages (Dutch, French, Latin, Greek, Hebrew) . . . and was able to tell the truth of history as it had unfolded itself during his own strenuous and benignant career."

? to America, prob. to Essex Co., Mass., first and then later emigrating to New Haven. There can be little doubt (though no positive proof) that the Bradleys of New Haven are of the same family and near relatives of the line of Bradleys settling in Essex Co., at Haverhill, Rowley and Bradford, Mass. The extraordinary similarity of the names of the children of the 1st Wm. Bradley of New Haven to those of Daniel Bradley of Rowley & Haverhill being most significant. William joined the New Haven Colony 16 July 1645.

DANIEL^1 BRADLEY - b. about 1615, England; d. KBI
m.

He came from the parish of St. Alphege, Cripplegate, sailing from London, Eng in the "Elizabeth" 8 Apr. 1635, at the age of 20. arr. Boston midsummer Resided Ipswich in 1636. Settled in Haverhill later & made freeman there 1642. In 1648, assisted in building the first rude meeting house "upon the shore of the river, on a knoll that lightly swelled from the surrounding land." (His son & grandson aided in building the next 2 meeting houses.) Daniel was a tanner.

In May 1664 he bought the house & land in Haverhill adjoining the "parsonage farm." In 1682 the "parsonage farm" was leased to a Daniel Bradley for 25 years.

He was KBI on the parsonage road near the present site of the Atkinson, N.H. depot. He was first of his family to be KBI. His children & grandchildren were many of them massacred or taken prisoner. Few families suffered more than the Bradleys from the succession of Indian raids which took place in the following years.

"Desc. of Nathan Bradley ......" by Leonard Abram Bradley 1917

Source #5 Daniel Bradley had taken the oath of allegiance, as appears by certificate from the parish of St. Alphage, Cripplegate. He was then 20 years of age. (See N.E.G. Reg. 1860 p. 1306) - He settled in Haverhill, Mass. where he m. Mary Williams May 21, 1662.
His son Isaac was captured by the Indians Sept. 4th. 1695 but escaped & ret'd. to Haverhill.

One John Bradley was a res. of Salem, MA at an early period; his will proved in 1642. In History of the Dorchester Bradleys, Mr. Doggett states that John B— Jr. moved to ~~Oldham~~ & then to Dorchester where he had 1 child Shealtiel, b. 16 Mar. 1642 & died at 6 weeks of age.

(WILL - 23 Dec. 1689; codicil 27 Jan. 1692/3; proved 22 Apr. 1697)

Simon's father died when Simon was only 17 and he was committed to the care of Thomas Dudley with whom he remained for 8 years. He entered Emmanuel College where he remained a year, having his studies frequently interrupted. He rec'd. his Bachelor degree in 1620, his Masters in 1624. Simon resided as steward in the family of the Earl of Lincoln, father of Lady Arbella Johnson (Mrs. Isaac Johnson) and Lady Susan Humphrey, both of whom came to Salem, Mass. He was subsequently steward of the Countess of Warwick.

Simon came over in the "Arbella" sailing 29 March 1630 and arriving 12 June 1630, with his wife Anne Dudley, who was only 18. He became Governor of the Mass. Bay Colony 1626-86 & 1689. First Sec. of the Mass. Bay colony 1630-36
Dep. Gov. 1672-76

His wife, the gifted Anne Dudley, was reared amid the refinement and elegance of an English castle (her father, Thomas Dudley, had been steward to the Earl of Lincoln). She is reputed to be the first Amer. poetess. She was called "The Tenth Muse" after the title of her volume of poems, written in moments snatched from her domestic chores, and published in 1650 in London. Another volume "Contemplations" was published in 1678.

They had 5 children before removing to Andover and 3 after that. Their 1st home in Andover burned July 1666; the 2d one was built about 1667. By the burning of the house at Andover, Anne's papers, books and other things of great value were destroyed. A son wrote that his father's loss by this fire was over 800 books, inc. those of the son and many of the son's clothes, in his case to at least the value of 50 or 60 pounds. "The Bradstreet House" in Andover, built by Gov. Bradstreet, has a massive frame of heavy timbers, its walls lined with brick; its enormous chimney, running up through the center, shows in the garret like a fortification, and might, with care, last another half century.

The Governor's son Samuel's 3 children by his 2d wife were living with their grandfather at the time of his death. Three days later the Province appropriated £100 for his funeral, which was very elaborate and conducted with great solemnity. The citizens built the tomb and provided an elaborate inscription at the highest expense of the time. This tomb is the oldest monument erected in the British Colonies in America for a departed patriot. It is in Charter St. Burying Ground, Salem, Mass. The epitaph was preserved by some antiquary in the following communication to "The Boston Chronicle" for March 7-14, 1768: "By giving the inclofed a place in your chronicle, it being now fcarce legible on the monument, you'll oblige a number of your friends, who think it worth preferving."

Everyone gets into act at Wellfleet ceremony

WELLFLEET — Everyone got his digs in yesterday at the ground breaking for Wellfleet's new police and fire station.

After a few short speeches, the selectmen pushed their copper-colored shovels into the ground and moved a token amount of dirt. Then Selectman Wilbur Rockwell asked:

"It's a good start. Does anyone else want to help dig?"

Before about 50 onlookers, Wellfleet Police Chief Richard O'Hara, acting Fire Chief Richmond Bell and several members of the longstanding fire and police station building committee took turns at the shovels, as did Town Moderator Harry Terkanian.

First- and second-graders from the elementary school just up the hill were also present, and once three stepped in to shovel, all the others crowded around. They kept digging until teacher Paul Bradstreet said it was time to go.

Construction is supposed to start within 10 days, and the facility, at the corner of School Street and Gross Hill Road, should be completed within nine months, said architect Brett Donham of Boston.

Its completion will mark the culmination of 16 years of work, planning and several setbacks that ended April 26 when town meeting voters approved $708,650 for the present plan.

"I'm very appreciative that I'm the last of a long line of distinguished architects who worked on this station," Donham said. "As it says in the Bible, everything comes to he who waits — I'm glad I arrived when the town was ready."

The town expects to sign a contract Tuesday with the low bidder for the project, R.J. Marshall Inc. of Seekonk, and the bulldozers should arrive shortly thereafter, Rockwell said.

The Marshall family has ties in the Truro area, which Donham believes should be an asset.

"They've got a nice strong identification with the area," said Donham, whose own family lives in Orleans. "You get more care, love and attention, I think. No one wants to drive by and be embarrassed by the thing."

He was a Freeman 1674; representative 1677, 1690 & 1691; Colonel of the Militia; Selectman, Town Clerk, Magistrate and School Teacher. He was the first person to breast and mark a turning point to the dreadful delusion of witchcraft. "During the witchcraft delusion in 1692, he granted 30 or 40 warrants for the apprehension and imprisonment of the supposed witches; but, refusing afterwards to grant any more, he himself fell a victim to the same charge, and was obliged for a time to secrete himself. At the time of the attack of the Indians on Andover in 1698, he and his family were made prisoners, but immediately afterwards released." His only living desc. are those tracing through the children of his daughter Margaret and her husband, Job Tyler.

ANNE BRADSTREET

"Having had from her birth a very delicate constitution, prostrated when only sixteen years old by the small-pox, troubled at one time with lameness, subject to frequent attacks of sickness, to fevers, and to fits of fainting, she bore these numerous inflictions with meekness and resignation. Recognizing the inestimable blessing of health, she regarded it as the reward of virtue, and looked upon her various maladies as tokens of the divine displeasure at her thoughtlessness or wrong-doing.  Her children were constantly in her mind. It was for them that she committed to writing her own religious experiences, her own feelings of joy or sorrow at the various changes which brightened or darkened her life.  Notwithstanding the comfort she took in her children, notwithstanding the happiness of her married life, she continually dwells on the vanity of all worldly delights, the shortness of life, and the great ills to which humanity is subject. She found, however, a never-failing solace for all her troubles in prayer."

"The miscellaneous writings, which, under the titles of "Religious Experiences and Occasional Pieces" and "Meditations," precede the "Poems" in this volume, are printed from a small manuscript book, which belonged to the author, and which has been kept, since her death, as a precious relic by her descendants. It is about six inches high and three and three-quarters inches broad. The covers are of common sheep-skin, and are very much soiled and worn. The remnants of two small brass clasps still adhere to them. The paper is yellow, stained with water, blotted with ink, and bears marks of having been much read and handled. It has ninety-eight pages, the first forty-one of which are taken up with the "Meditations Diuine and morall," in Mrs. Bradstreet's handwriting. The forty-second page is blank; but, from the forty-third to the sixty-seventh page inclusive, her son Simon has copied in the contents of another manuscript book left by her, which is now probably lost. Mrs. Bradstreet's handwriting is large and distinct; while that of her son is very small and delicate, though clear, and marred by few erasions or alterations. The sixty-eighth page is blank, and then follows a Latin translation of the first four "Meditations" and their dedication, by her great-grandson, the Rev. Simon Bradstreet, of Marblehead, Massachusetts. This covers only four pages. Six pages have been at some time cut out after these. The next twenty-four pages are blank; and on the two sides of the last leaf there are some verses in Mrs. Bradstreet's handwriting, beginning, "As weary pilgrim, now at rest." Several leaves, how many it is uncertain, have been torn out at the end of the book. ****** "

Three editions of Anne Bradstreet's poems have been printed. First - in London, 1650, under the title of "The Tenth Mufe, lately fprung up in [illegible] America". Second - was printed in Boston by John Foster, 1678., containing additions & corrections of the author, & several poems found among her papers after her d., tog. w/some [illegible] verses in praise of her poems by Pres. Rogers of Harvard Coll. & "A Funeral Elogy" upon the author by Rev. John Norton, of Hingham. Third, published in Boston, 1758, w/out name of publisher or printer - and although reprinted from the 2d ed. there were numerous ommissions of words, changes of spelling & other alterations of little importance. I found a copy of the 2d edition at State Library & copied some of the poems, etc.

(from that part copied by her son, the Rev. Simon Bradstreet, of New London, Conn., which he prefixed by the following note: "A true copy of a Book left by my hon'd & dear mother to her children & found among fome papers after her Death.")

To my Dear Children.

This Book by Any yet vnread,
I leaue for yov when I am dead,
That, being gone, here yov may find
What was your liueing mother's mind.
Make vfe of what I leaue in Loue
And God fhall bleffe yov from above.

A. B.

My Dear Children, --

I, knowing by experience that the exhortations of parents take moft effect when the speakers leaue to fpeak, and thofe efpecially fink deepeft which are fpoke lateft -- and being ignorant whether on my death bed I fhall haue opportvnity to fpeak to any of yov, much leffe to All — thought it the beft, whilft I was able to compofe fome fhort matters, (for what elfe to call them I know not) and bequeath to yov, that when I am no more with yov, yet I may bee dayly in your remembrance, (Although that is the leaft in my aim in what I now doe) but that yov may gain fome fpiritual Advantage by my experience. I haue not ftudyed in this yov read to fhow my fkill, but to declare the Truth — not to fett forth myfelf, but the glory of God. If I had minded the former, it had been perhaps better pleafing to yov, — but feing the laft if the beft, let it bee beft pleafing to yov.

The method I will obferve fhall bee this — I will begin with God's Dealing with me from my childhood to this Day. In my yovng years, about 6 or 7 as I take it, I began to make confcience of my wayes, and what I knew was finfull, as lying, difobedience to Parents, &c. I avoided it. If at any time I was overtaken with the like evills, it was a great Trouble. I could not be at reft 'till by prayer I had confeft it vnto God. I was alfo troubled at the neglect of Private Dutyes, tho: too often tardy that way. I alfo fovnd much comfort in reading the Scriptures, efpecially thofe places I thought moft concerned my Condition, and as I grew to haue more vnderstanding, fo the more folace I took in them.

But as I grew vp to bee about 14 or 15 I fovnd my heart more carnall, and fitting loofe from God, vanity and the follyes of youth take hold of me.

About 16, the Lord layd his hand fore vpon me and fmott mee with the fmall pox. When I was in my affliction, I befovght the Lord, and confeffed my Pride and Vanity and he was entreated of me, and again reftored me. But I rendered not to him according to the benefitt received.

After a fhort time I changed my condition and was marryed, and came into this Covntry, where I fovnd a new world and new manners, at which my heart rofe. But after I was convinced it was the way of God, I fubmitted to it and joined to the church at Bofton.

******

I haue had great experience of God's hearing my Prayers, and returning comfortable Anfwers to me, either in granting the Thing I prayed for, or elfe in fatiffying my mind without it; and I haue been confident it hath been from him, becavfe I have fovnd my heart through his goodnes enlarged in Thankfullnes to him.

******

This was written in mvch ficknefle and weaknes, and is very weakly and imperfectly done; but, if yov can pick any Benefitt out of it, it is the marke which I aimed at.

(This is followed by 16 poems and 6 pieces of prose, intermingled, including poems about her family, as noted.)

'Vpon my Son Samuel his goeing for England, Novem. 6, 1657.'

"Vpon my Daughter Hannah Wiggin her recouery from a dangerous feaver."

"*On my Sons Return out of England, July 17, 1661."

"Vpon my dear and loving hufband his goeing into England, Jan. 16, 1661."

"In thankfull Remembrance for my dear hufbands fafe Arrivall Sept. 3, 1662

(Following the last poem re her "dear hufbands fafe Arrivall" is this statement -- "This was the laft Thing written in that Book by my dear and hon'd Mother.")

*In this poem she mentions the sinking of one of the two ships that sailed at the same time for England; James Garrett, master of one, and John Pierfe, commander of the other. Evidently Samuel expected to sail on Garrett's ship but "Myfelf was once intended and refolved to pafs in that fhip: but the mafter, who fometimes had been employed by me, and from whom I expected a common courtefy, carried it fomething unkindly, as I conceived, about my accomodations of a cabin; which was an occafion to divert me to the other fhip, where I alfo had good company, and my life alfo preferved, as the fequel proved: For this fhip of Garrett's perifhed in the paffage, and was never heard of more."

Apparently he contracted small-pox while in England as she says "In fícknes when he lay full fore, / His help and his Phyfitian wer't; / When royall ones that Time did dye, / Thou heal'dft his flefh, and cheer'd his heart." (Henry, Duke of Gloucester, 3d s. of Charles I., d. of small-pox 13 Sept. 1660, and Mary, his sis., Princess of Orange, ret. from Holland soon aft. his d., and fell victim to same disease on 24th Dec. following.)

They did not sail until the 11th of Feb. due to an attack of severe illness suffered by the Rev. John Norton, of Boston, who was the other man chosen as messenger to the Court in England. "They arrived in London the last of March, and were successful in their endeavors, -- to divert the anger of the king, to put a favorable construction on the past acts of the Colony, and to secure for it an extension of the royal favor."

They ret. 3 Sept., in the ship "Society", bringing w/them a letter from the King, in which the charter privileges were confirmed, and all past errors pardoned. The satisfaction which this gave was counterbalanced by the rest of the letter, which enjoined a fuller establishment of the King's authority, and contained other matter equally distasteful to the people."

* * * * * *

(Then we find -- "Here followes fome verfes vpon the burning of our houfe, July 10th, 1666. Copyed ovt of a loofe Paper.")

In filent night when reft I took,
For forrow neer I did not look,
I waken'd was with thundring nois
And Piteovs fhreiks of dreadfull voice.
That fearfull found of fire and fire.
Let no man know is my Defire.

I, ftarting vp, the light did fpye,
And to my God my heart did cry
To ftrenghtn me in my Diftreffe
And not to leaue me fuccourleffe.
Then coming ovt behold a fpace,
The flame confvme my dwelling place.

And, when I could no longer look,
I bleft his Name that gave and took,
That layd my goods now in the dvft:
Yea fo it was, and fo 'twas jvft.
It was his own: it was not mine;
ffar be it that I fhould repine.

Anne Bradstreet ca 1612-1672
Born Prob. in Northampton, Eng.
Mrs. Bradstreet wrote the only important poetry produced in Amer. in her age, but she was by no means a great poet. Her 1st vol. is in the literary tradition of Francis Quarles and of DuBartas whom she read in Sylvester's English translation. It is tedious, unimaginative and written w/ cramped + artificial diction. In her later verse, ~~she came~~ such as "Contemplations" she came nearer the style of Spenser. These later verses and her familiar verses establish her as the 1st Amer. a part of whose writing we may classify as true poetry.

The best edition of her poems is that of John Harvard Ellis, 1867 reprinted 1932.

He might of All iuftly bereft,
But yet fufficient for us left.
When by the Ruines oft I paft,
My forrowing eyes afide did caft,
And here and there the places fpye
Where oft I fate, and long did lye.

Here ftood that Trunk, and there that cheft;
There lay that ftore I covnted beft:
My pleafant things in afhes lye,
And them behold no more fhall I.
Vnder thy roof no gveft fhall fitt,
Nor at thy Table eat a bitt.

No pleafant tale fhall 'ere be told,
Nor things recovnted done of old.
No Candle'ere fhall fhine in Thee,
Nor bridegroom's voice ere heard fhall bee.
In filence ever fhalt thou lye;
Adeiu, Adeiu; All's vanity.

Then ftreight I gin my heart to chide,
And did thy wealth on earth abide?
Didft fix thy hope on mouldring dvft,
The arm of flefh didft make thy trvft?
Raife vp thy thovghts above the fkye
That dunghill mifts away may flie.

Thou haft an houfe on high erect,
Fram'd by that mighty Architect,
With glory richly furnifhed,
Stands permanent tho: this bee fled.
'Its purchaféd, and paid for too
By him who hath enovgh to doe.

A Prife fo vaft as is vnknown,
Yet, by his Gift, is made thine own.
Ther's wealth enovgh, I need no more;
Farewell my Pelf, farewell my Store.
The world no longer let me Love,
My hope and Treafure lyes Above.

"Three editions of her "Poems" have been printed. The 1st ed. appeared in London, 1650, under the title of "The Tenth Mufe, lately fprung up in America;" a neatly-printed vol. in small 16mo, xiv and 207 p.
The 2d ed. was printed in Boston, by John Foster, 1678. Contained the additions & corrections of the author, & svl. poems found amongst her papers aft. her d.; tog. w/some verses in praise of her poems by Pres. Rogers, of Harvard College, and "A Funeral Elogy," upon the author, by Rev. John Norton, of Hingham. Like the 1st ed., it is a 16mo; but p. and type are larger. It has 255 p., preceded by 14 p. unnumbered.
The 3d ed., in crown 8vo, xiv and 233 p., was published in Boston, 1758, without bearing name of publisher or printer. Although it was reprinted from the 2d ed., there were numerous omissions of words, changes in the spelling, and other alterations of little importance."

(In reference to her children she wrote a long poem beginning with --)

"I had eight birds hatcht in one neft,
Four Cocks there were, and Hens the reft,
I nurft them up with pain and care,
Nor coft, nor labour did I fpare,
Till at the laft they felt their wing.

To Regions far, and left me quite:"

(She wrote a number of poems about her husband including this --)

[illegible] New England [illegible]
[illegible] Brooks
Ed. [illegible]

"To my Dear and loving Husband.

If ever two were one, then furely we.
If ever man were lov'd by wife, then thee;
If ever wife was happy in a man,
Compare with me ye women if you can.
I prize thy love more then whole Mines of gold,
Or all the riches that the Eaft doth hold.
My love is fuch that Rivers cannot quench,
Nor ought but love from thee, give recompence.
Thy love is fuch I can no way repay,
The heavens reward thee manifold I pray.
Then while we live, in love lets fo perfever,
That when we live no more, we may live ever."

(Among a number of verses under the title of "Contemplations" is this --)

"Under the cooling fhadow of a ftately Elm
Clofe fate I by a goodly Rivers fide,
Where gliding ftreams the Rocks did overwhelm;
A lonely place, with pleafures dignifi'd.
I once that lov'd the fhady woods fo well,
Now thought the rivers did the trees excel,
And if the fun would ever fhine, there would I dwell."

(She had evidently exposed herself to the criticism of her neighbors by studying and writing so much. In the "Prologue" she says: --)

"I am obnoxious to each carping tongue
Who fays my hand a needle better fits,
A Poets pen all fcorn I fhould thus wrong,
For fuch defpite they caft on Female wits:
If what I do prove well, it won't advance,
They'l fay it's ftoln, or elfe it was by chance."

Vpon my Son Samuel his goeing for England, Novem. 6, 1657.

Thou mighty God of Sea and Land,
I here refigne into thy hand
The Son of Prayers, of vowes, of teares,
The child I ftay'd for many yeares.
Thou heard'ft me then, and gav'ft him mee;
Hear me again, I giue him Thee.
He's mine, but more, O Lord, thine own,
For fure thy Grace on him is fhown.
No freind I haue like Thee to truft,
For mortall helpes are brittle Dvft.
Preferve, O Lord, from ftormes and wrack,
Protect him there, and bring him back;
And if thou fhalt fpare me a fpace,
That I again may fee his face,
Then fhall I celebrate thy Praife,
And Bleffe the for't even all my Dayes.
If otherwife I goe to Reft,
Thy Will bee done, for that is beft;
Perfwade my heart I fhall him fee
For ever happefy'd with Thee.

Vpon my Daughter Hannah Wiggin her recouery from a dangerous feaver.

Bles't bee thy Name, who did'ft reftore
  To health my Daughter dear
When death did feem ev'n to approach,
  And life was ended near.

Gravnt fhee remember what thov'ft done,
  And celebrate thy Praife;
And let her Converfation fay,
  Shee loues thee all thy Dayes.

On my Sons Return out of England, July 17, 1661.

All Praife to him who hath now turn'd
My feares to Joyes, my fighes to fong,
My Teares to fmiles, my fad to glad:
He's come for whom I waited long.

Thou di'ft preferve him as he went;
In raging ftormes did'ft fafely keep:
Did'ft that fhip bring to quiet Port.
The other fank low in the Deep.

From Dangers great thou did'ft him free
Of Pyrates who were neer at hand;
And order'ft fo the adverfe wind,
That he before them gott to Land.

In covntry ftrange thou did'ft provide,
And freinds raif'd him in euery Place;
And courtefies of fvndry forts
From fuch as 'fore nere faw his face.

In ficknes when he lay full fore,
His help and his Phyfitian wer't;
When royall ones that Time did dye,
Thou hel'dft hid flefh, and cheer'd his heart.

From troubles and Incubers Thov,
Without (all fraud), did'ft fett him free,
That, without fcandall, he might come
To th' Land of his Nativity.

On Eagles wings him hether brovght
Thro: Want and Dangers manifold;
And thvs hath gravnted my Reqveft,
That I thy Mercyes might behold.

O help me pay my Vowes, O Lord!
That ever I may thankfull bee,
And may putt him in mind of what
Tho'ft done for him, and fo for me.

In both our hearts erect a frame
Of Duty and of Thankfullnes,
That all thy favours great receiv'd,
Oure vpright walking may expreffe.

O Lord, gravnt that I may never forgett they Loving kindnes in this Particular, and how gratiovfly thov haft anfwered my Defires.

Vpon my dear and loving hufband his goeing into England, Jan. 16, 1661.

O Thov moft high who rulest All,
And hear'ft the Prayers of Thine;
O hearken, Lord, vnto my fult,
And my Petition figne.

Into thy everlafting Armes
  Of mercy I commend
Thy fervant, Lord. Keep and preferve
  My hufband, my dear freind.

A Prayer for November

What shall I render to thy Name,
or how thy Praises speak;
My thankes
how shall I testefye?
O Lord,
thou know'st I'm weak.
What did I ask for
but thou gav'st?
What could I more desire?
But Thankfullnes,
even all my dayes,
I humbly this Require.

—Anne Bradstreet (1612-1672)

America's first woman poet, Anne Bradstreet was the daughter of an early governor of the Massachusetts Bay Colony and the wife of another. In between the rigors of raising eight children and caring for a farm, she wrote simple, unaffected verse. This prayer was written in thanksgiving for her husband's safe return home.

Rec'd. from Alice 11/15/83

At thy command, O Lord, he went,
  Nor novght could keep him back;
Then let thy promis joy his heart:
  O help, and bee not flack.

Vphold my heart in Thee, O God,
  Thou art my ftrenght and ftay;
Thou fee'ft how weak and frail I am,
  Hide not thy face Away.

I, in obedience to thy Will,
  Thov knoweft, did fubmitt;
It was my Duty fo to doe,
  O Lord, accept of it.

Vnthankfullnes for mercyes Paft,
  Impute thov not to me;
O Lord, thov kno'ft my weak defire
  Was to fing Praife to Thee.

Lord, bee thov Pilott to the fhip,
  And fend them profperous gailes;
In ftormes and ficknes, Lord, preferve.
  Thy Goodnes never failes.

Vnto thy work he hath in hand,
  Lord, gravnt Thov good fucceffe
And favour in their eyes, to whom
  He fhall make his Addreffe.

Remember, Lord, thy folk whom thou
  To wilderneffe haft brovght;
Let not thine own Inheritance
  Bee fold away for Novght.

But Tokens of thy favour Give --
  With Joy fend back my Dear,
That I, and all thy fervants, may
  Rejoice with heavenly cheer.

Lord, let my eyes fee once Again
  Him whom thov gaveft me,
That wee together may fing Praife
  ffor ever vnto Thee.

And the Remainder of oure Dayes
  Shall confecrated bee,
With an engaged heart to fing
  All Praifes vnto Thee.

In thankfull Remembrance for my dear hufbands fafe Arrivall Sept. 3, 1662.

What fhall I render to thy Name,
  Or how thy Praifes fpeak;
My thankes how fhall I teftefye?
  O Lord, thov know'ft I'm weak.

I ow fo mvch, fo little can
Return vnto thy Name,
Confufion feafes on my Soul,
And I am fill'd with fhame.

O thov that heareft Prayers, Lord,
To Thee fhall come all fflefh;
Thou haft me heard and anfwered,
My 'Plaints haue had acceffe.

What did I afk for but thov gav'ft?
What could I more defire?
But Thankfullnes, even all my dayes,
I humbly this Require.

Thy mercyes, Lord, haue been fo great,
In nvmber nvmberles,
Impoffible for to recovnt
Or any way expreffe.

O help thy Saints that fovght thy fface,
T' Return vnto thee Praife,
And walk before thee as they ought,
In ftrict and vpright wayes.

This was the laft Thing written in that Book by my dear and hon'd Mother.

In the name and feare of god Amen. I Simon Bradstreet of Boston in the County of Suffolk in New-England being att pfent in competent health and strenght through the goodnes and mercy of god Yet by reafon of my age, and the infirmyties of nature accompanying the Same, with the Confideratan of the uncertainty of this life Doe take myfelfe called upon whilst I have freedome and oportunyty to fett my houfe in ord^{r} and Soe humbly to wayt upon the good pleafure of the Lord for my change, I Doe therefore here make this my laft will and Teftam^{t} hereby revocking and makeing voyd all former wills and Teftam^{ts} written or unwritten whatfoever. And firft I Doe moft humbly & solemnly comitt and comend my Soule to god who gaue it, in fome comfortable hope and affurance of the pardon and free remiffion of my many and great Sins and of an happy and bleffed refurrection through the infinite mercy of god and alone merrit, of my Lord and Saviour Jefus Chrift my Deare redeemer and my body to the earth, to be buryed in such decent manor as my Execut^{r} or execut^{s} hereaft^{r} named and surviveing friends shall think convenient And for my outward eftate which god in his rich mercy hath blessed me withall in this wildernes (haveing given all my eight Children Such portions as I thought meete and equall) and devided my plate and howfehold amongst them) that which remaynes I Doe herby give bequeath and order as followeth. ffirst my will and Defire is that all my juft Debts (w^{ch} I hope will not be many or great) togeather with my funerall charges be Duely satiffyed & payd.

It. I give and bequeath unto my deare and loveing wife m^{r}s An̄ Bradftreet All that eftate reall and perfonall whatsoever, that I had of hers or with her in marriage, which is in the howfe or elsewhere, which shee shall claime as hers (according to agreemt made with her before mariage in liue of her thirds. alfo I Doe give unto her. the some of ten pounds ꝑ anno dureing her naturall life, to be payd in money out of my ffarme att Lyn̄ wherein Cornett John Lewis now liveth Alfo I Doe give unto her ten pounds more ꝑ anno dureing her widdowhood, the one halfe thereof to be payd out of my howfe and land att Andover by thofe that fhall enioy it and the other halfe out of my ffarme att Topffeild wherein one John Huckins now liveth to be pd in money or other good pay. alfo I give unto her my negro woman Hanath and her Daughter Billeh now liveing with mee not to be fold to any, except in way of marriage: but if shee thinks meete to Difpofe of them or either of them before or att her Death then to fome of my children whome shee pleafeth for fome tyme, alfo I give unto her the ufe of that lyttle howfehold stuff that I bought since I came to Bofton Dureing her pleafure and then to fome of my children as shee shall see meete; what provifions of wyne beare or victualles that shalbe remayneing in the howfe after my funerall I leave for her ufe, and to her Difpofe with one quarter rent of the howfe wherein I live att my Death, to be pd by my execut^{r} if hyred) intreating her to accept of theis fmall bequefts as a teftimony of my unfeyned Love, whoe would moft willingly have inlarged the fame (in regard of that love care and tendernes shee hath always fhowed to me and myne) Did not the condition of my many, and theirs, reftraine mee. Now whereas by a former will I had given to my oldest fon Sam^{ll} Bradftreet my ffarme att Lyn̄ wherein Cornet John Lewis now liveth, to einoy, imediately after my Death, the reverfion whereof hee hath by his laft will given unto mercy Bradftreet his eldeft Daughter by his firft wife, whome I have bene forced to educate and mayntayne att confederable charge ever fence Sept^{r} 1670 and have now 3 other of my Said Sons children Sent me from Jamaica, which I muft take care of and provide for the faid farme alfo (att my charge) being much improved since I have it therefore, both equall and neceffary, with the advice of neereft relations, to make fome lyttle alteration of the faid guift, tho farr leff then I might juftly Doe and I have therefore given to my Deare wife An̄ Bradftreet ten pounds ꝑ ano out of the sd ffarme Dureing her naturall life, which I order and require be duely payd to her out of the rent of the faid ffarme as it fhall grow due. And nextly I give and bequeath unto the said mercy Bradftreet the Daughter of my fon Samuel All that my howfe and fferme in Lyn̄ wherein Cornet John Lewis now lyveth with all outhowfes barnes ftables herbyards meadow and arrable or upland of all forts w^{t}soev^{r} with all pfiitts and appurtenances thereunto belonging or any wayes appertayneing, to einoy to her and the heirs of her body lawfully begotten $\overset{\text{for ever}}{\wedge}$ or for want fuch heires to the children of her Said father Sam^{ll} Bradstreet, to be equally Divided amongft them. Shee or they paying the $\overset{st}{e}$ per ano before mentoned to her granmother An Bradftreet Dureing her naturall life. It. I give unto her the said mercy her fathers picture, the wrought counterpayne curtaynes & vallances saved by her $\overset{\text{father}}{\wedge}$ & my Silver Salt^{r} or Dish part whereof was made with her owne money. Item I give unto John and Simon Bradftreet two of my fon Samuels children now with mee, my howfe and land in Lyn, which I lately purchafed of Mai^{r} Samuel Appleton and his Son Samuel with the Tenemts p^{r}vileges and appurtenances thereunto belonging to eĩoy to them their heires, and affignes for ever to be equalley Devided betwixt them X alfo I Doe give unto the sd John Bradftreet: my twenty acres of meadow with my part of a lyttle Island or hill of upland adjoyneing lyeing and being in Topffeild in the County of Effex on the Southerly Syde of Ipfw^{ch} ryver sometyme ufed and belonging to my farme there wherein my fon John now lyveth and parted from my other meadow there by the faid ryver.

*(The foregoing portion of will copied from photostatic copy - the following portion copied from a machine copy of a typed copy [note differences in spelling].)

Item I give unto Ann Bradstreet another Child of my Son Samuel Bradstreet, All that House and Land of mine in Lynn containing by estimation three & forty acres be it more or lefs, which I lately purchased of M^{r} Ezekiel Needham, to enjoy to the s^{d} Ann her heires & afsignes forever. And I do make and ordain my dear and loving Wife Mrs. Ann Bradstreet my Executrix and overseer of this my last Will and Testament so far as it doth anyway concerne or relate to the three children of my son Samuel (vizt) John, Simon and Ann, to whose care and prudent Government for their education & maintenance I do wholly commit them, and for the ordering and disposing of what I have, in this Will given them or may give them, or that any other way may accrue unto them or either of them from England or Jamaica &c, to their best advantage which (out of the Experience I have had of her great love care and affection to them) I doubt not but She will do. Nor could I leave or comit them to any in the world with more quiet contenment and satisfaction to my mind, than to her. Not that I intend they should be any way, chargeable or burthensome to her, But that fhe should be well satisfied to her Content for their diat, Cloathing, schooling &c which if their yearly Income will not discharge, I do hereby order my Executor hereafter named to fupply out of the remainder of my estate not Disposed of Item I give unto the three children of my son Simon Bradstreet dece^{d}. (vizt) Simon, John and Lucy, the one halfe or moiety of all my Houses and Lands in Andover in the County of Efsex in N.E. both that which belongs to the House I built and sometimedlived in, and that which I bought of Robert Bernard as also that I had for Debt of Samuel Watts to be equally divided amongst them Also I give to each of them the Sum of Ten pounds, to be paid by my Executor hereafter named. Also I give unto Simon Bradstreet the eldest of the Three children before mentioned my ten acres of Land in the Township of Lynn near my Farme there wherein Cornet John Lewis now liveth, which s^{d} Tenn Acres I had of Cap^{t} Thomas Marshall for Debt. Item I give & bequeath unto my Son Dudley Bradstreet the other halfe or moiety of all my

Houses and Lands in Andover afores^{d} to be divided by the Children of my son Simon or their Friends, and Dudley to choose. Also to each of his Children living at my decease, I give the sum of Tenn pounds apiece. Item I give unto my son John Bradstreet and to the Heires of his body Lawfully begotten, my House and Farme at Topsfeild wherein he now liveth That is to say All the Upland adjoyning to the s^{d} House with a parcel of Land lying betwixt that and the House of John Wiles, also the lot of Wood ground or Upland belonging to the s^{d} Farme on the other side of the River, with that parcel of meadow of about fourscore acres, be the same more or lefs, lying intirely together betwixt the River and a certain Brook there, with the Island of Upland in the s^{d} meadow, Also I give unto him ---- that parcel of meadow lying near the House on the same side of the Brook which I purchased of Robert Muzzey, together with all the swamp adjoyning with about 10 or 12 acres of Upland, lying on that side the Brook betwixt the s^{d} Swamp and the land of John Redington, sometime belonging to and used with the Farme which William Smith lately lived in, to which I have laid about 26 acres of Upland upon an Island which was part of, & belonging to my other Farme, on the other side of the Brook, as judgeing this Division equal and most convenient for both the Farmes. Also I do give unto him the s^{d} John the Sum of Sixty pounds, (This 60£ I intend to pay his just Debts or at least some p^{t} of them &c) and to each of his children living at my decease ten pounds apiece.

And whereas I have intailed the House and Land herein bequeathed him, to his heirs &c, My meaning is and so it is to be understood, the one halfe or moiety thereof to his eldest Son, and the other halfe to be equally divided amongst the rest of his children be they Sons or Daughters. Item I do give unto my Grand Child M^{r} John Cotton of Hampton the sum of Twenty pounds and to his six sisters the Daughters of my Daughter Dorothy, or to so many of them as shall be living at my decease, the sum of ten pounds apiece, only as to Ann's legacy I leave it to my Executor and overseers to do therein as they shall see cause, and as she may deserve by her after carriage and behaviour. I do herby remit unto my Son in Law M^{r} Andrew Wiggin all that Debt which he hath so long owed me Except the sum of Fifty pounds which he is to pay to my Executor, And I do hereby give to every of his children by my daughter Hannah that fhall be living at my decease the sum of ten pounds apiece. Item I do remit unto my daughter M^{rs} Sarah Ward, and to her husband Cap^{t} Samuel Ward all that Debt which her former husband M^{r} Richard Hubbard owed me being more than one hundred pounds, and do give to every of her Children living at my decease ten pounds apiece. Item I give and bequeath unto my daughter M^{rs} Mercy Wade and to her Husband M^{r} Nathaniel Wade my farme at Topsfeild wherein one John Huckins now liveth. That is to say, The Dwelling house and outhouses, Hortyards and gardens, together with all other Lands both Upland & meadow belonging to the s^{d} Farme, and all lying and being betwixt a certain Brook these and a River, commonly call'd Ipswich River, with twenty six acres of Upland or arable ground being part of an Island compassed about wth meadow which was formerly part of my Farme as afores^{d} Also I give unto her the Lot of Upland or Woodground, on the other side of the River containing the quantity of 40 acres, laid out to this Farme by the Town of Topsfeild, to enjoy to her and her heires forever. She or her husband paying yearly the sum of five pounds unto my Wife M^{rs} Ann Bradstreet during the time of her widowhood, and what I may further order to be paid out of s^{d} Farme. Also I do give to every one of her Children living at my death the sum of Ten pounds apiece. Item, whereas I have upon Record two several Grants of Land, each of 500 acres (for Service done for y^{e} Colony) not yet taken up or laid out (the reason whereof my Executro can declare) the one whereof I do hereby give and bequeath unto the 3 children of my Son Simon, to be equally divided amongst them and the other 500 acres, I give and bequeath unto my son Dudley Bradstreet, to enjoy to them their heires and afsigns forever. Item I do give and bequeath unto the three Children of my son Samuel (vizt) John, Simon and Anne, now with me, the sum of one hundred pounds in money, to each of them to be paid to my Wife immediately after my decease, that it may be improved towards their Education. And do hereby revoke and make void my bequest to them of the Houses and Lands in Lynn mentioned in the former part of my Will, having already disposed of one of them. Item I give unto M^{r} Samuel Willard the Reverend Pastor of the South Church in Boston the Sum of Five pounds as a small Testimony of y^{t} respect and unfeigned Love I justly owe him. Item my will is, and I do hereby order that whatsoever shall remain of my Estate real or personal more than Two hundred pounds (after my Debts and Legacies are paid, discounted or secured, and the three Children of my Son Samuel before mentioned been provided for, according to my true intention, for their Education and maintenance till they come of age or ability to live of themselves) be disposed and distributed by the advice and order of my Executors and Overseers, to some of my Grand Children, especially to those of my Son Simon and Daughter Cotton whose Parents had the least portions, or any other that may be in most need or of best desert. I cannot determine what will be necefsary yearly out of my Estate to be paid by my Executor for the education and maintenance of the Three Children of my Son Samuel because I cannot be certain what Income they or any of them may have from England or Jamaixa, but my desire is (if it may be) that the small Legacies that I have given them, may be preserved entire till they come of age. Item I do hereby make my Son Dudley Bradstreet my sole Executor to this my las Will and Testament Except what I have before comitted to my dear Wife and do hereby empower him to sell any House, Land or real estate not particularly disposed of, for the paying of Debts and Legacies, as he shall see cause. Item I do intreat and ordaine my much honord Friends Cap^{t} Wait Winthrop Esq^{r} and Mr. Peter Sergeant to be overseers of this my Will, and to accept of 40 shillings apiece to buy them a ring [illegible], them with my Executor and Wife finally to ifsue and determine any doubt or difference that may arise betwixt any relating to this my Will or the meaning thereof. Forbidding any suit at Law to be commenced by any in reference thereunto, but to be determined as aforesaid. A Codicel to my Will to be annexed thereto and to be held taken and accepted as part and parcel thereof. Whereas I Simon Bradstreet Esq^{r} have signed and published my last Will and Testament bearing date the twenty third day of December one thousand six hundred and eighty nine, I do herby ratify, confirm and republish the same with this Codicel to abide and remain in full force hereby in some particulers upon further Consideration I do make a revocation and alteration as followeth. That is to say, I do hereby revoke the condition annexed unto the bequest of my two Negro's Hannah and Bilhah, and do freely give the s^{d} two Negro's unto my welbeloved Wife Anne Bradstreet fore-ever, to be wholy and absolutely at her dispose and will that my Executor pay unto each of s^{d} negro's twenty Shillings And whereas I am indebted to my s^{d} Wife the Sum of Fifty pounds in money, which I borrowed of her, of her own Separate Estate I have Fifty pounds in money in a little Trunk Standing in the best Chamber which I order her to take for payment of that Debt. Further I give unto my s^{d} wife my Spectacles set in gold bows, And I do desire my s^{d} dear Wife to take care of the Education of my Grand Children (vizt) John, Simon and Anne the children of my Son M^{r} Samuel Bradstreet dece^{d}, unto whome I commit them during her life, being well Satisfied of her tender care and good affection towars them And I give unto my s^{d} Grand Son John my Sett of gold Shirt buttons, to Simon a Silver Trencher Salt and unto Anne a Silver Porringer, And to my Grand Daughter M^{rs} Mercy Oliver her fathers picture. Further I give and bequeath unto my s^{d} three Grand Children John, Simon and Ann all the arrears of what is due to me for Salary as late Governour of the Colony of Mafsachusetts Bay. And I do hereby revoke my devise in my s^{d} Will unto my Grand Son Simon, the Son of my late Son M^{r} Simon Bradstreet, dece^{d} of a ten acre Lott of Land Lying in Lynn on the left hand of the Highway leading from Winisimet to Lynn, which I purchased of Cap^{t} Marshall, And I do freely give, devise and bequeath, the afores^{d} ten acres of land unto my Grand Son Simon, son of my Son Samuel Bradstreet aforesaid and to his heires and afsigns forever, he standing in most need of my help. And whereas by my said Will I have given and devised unto my Daughter M^{rs} Mercy Wade my Farme lying in Topsfield now or late in the occupation of -------Huggins, But Forasmuch as the Avery's of said Topsfeild have lately been in treaty with me about the purchase of s^{d} Farme, and have offered Two hundred and fifty pounds in money for the same, one hundred pounds thereof to be downe and the other one hundred and fifty in some reasonable time after, allowing Ten pounds ℔ anum Interest for the same in the interim. If the said persons or any other shall appear that will give that price, I do hereby order and fully impower and authorize my Executor to make sale of the said Farme at that price, And to seal and execute good and lawful Deed or Deeds for confirmation of the same, and the first hundred pounds part of the said purchase to be paid down. I will that it be paid unto my dear Wife Anne Bradstreet, she to have the use thereof during her natural life, in lieu of what I gave her out of the Rent of s^{d} Farme and at her decease I give the s^{d} one hundred pounds to my three within named Grand Children John, Simon and Ann, the Children of my Son Samuel, to be equally divided betwixt them. The other one hundred and fifty pounds principal money with the annual Rent or Interest that shall be paid for the same, I give and bequeath to my before named daughter Wade, to be paid unto her or her heirs. And I do desire and appoint M^{r} Isaac Addington to be an overseer of my s^{d} Will, to advise in the due execution thereof Witness my *(Following copied from photostatic copy of written will.) hand and seal hereunto set the 27th day of January 1692/3.
